CONFESSES TO STEINHEIL MURDERS

MAN IN COURT ADMITS GUILT

Riot Breaks Out in Paris Tribunal at Trial of "the Red Widow"—Woman Dramatically Proclaims Her Innocence.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The sensational trial of Mme. Steinheil, which, since it opened yesterday, has been full of thrills for all Paris, was interrupted this afternoon when Jean Lefebre rose in court and proclaimed himself guilty of the crimes of which the woman is accused.

"It is true. I told you I was innocent," cried the accused woman as Lefebre was hustled away to be quizzed more closely.

The avowal of guilt by the man threw the court into a furor. It was with difficulty that the crowd, which had already engaged in one riot, was kept in any semblance of order. The friends of Mme. Steinheil cried about their joy at Lefebre's recountal and her enemies hissed and shrieked their displeasure.

In half a dozen points at one men of opposing opinions clashed, but a heavy force of police reinforced the detail already within the court and order was finally restored.

Mme. Steinheil Collapses.

Lefebre made his confession with the knowledge of Maitre Aubin, counsel for Mme. Steinheil. Aubin secured from the presiding magistrate permission for Lefebre to speak. When the man rose no one except Aubin, and perhaps the accused woman, had an inkling as to what he would say.

His words came like an earthquake. Mme. Steinheil collapsed and remained in a faint while Lefebre was being examined in an anteroom.

When Mme. Steinheil, earlier in the day, broke out in angry denunciation of Presiding Judge de Valles, the crowded courtroom broke into an uproar, and before the municipal guards could grasp the situation the spectators were rioting.

The echo of the hubbub was caught by the tense crowds filling the streets without the Palais de Justice, and there, too, pandemonium broke loose.

The outbreak came when Mme. Steinheil, hysterically, under the attack of the court that had finally become furious, raised her hands and cried out angrily that the attack on her story of the murder of her husband and her stepmother, Mme. Japy, of which she is accused, was without warrant.

"I have told the truth; I swear my story is the truth," she cried in a frenzy of anger at the taunts cast at her by the presiding magistrate, M. de Valles. The reply of the judge was drowned in the jeers

MARY GARDEN SAYS SHE IS SOON TO WED

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Mary Garden, the opera singer, returned to-day on the White Star liner Adriatic, declaring she would marry soon.

Miss Garden said she left her heart in France in the custody of a man whose name she refused to mention.

"He gave me this," she said, pointing to a big diamond pendant at her throat. "I have been so lonesome for him I cried nearly all the way over. But the world will not know who he is until I marry him—if I do marry him."

"It has been reported over here," said one of the reporters, "that you were to enter a convent."

"That report," said Miss Garden, "probably arose from the fact that I have been converted to the Roman Catholic faith. I have been a Presbyterian, but that religion is so hard and cold.

"I love the repose and dignity of the Catholic religion. I like the way the Catholic Church dispenses charity, and I have always been impressed by the fact that the Catholic churches are open all the time. When I return to France in the Spring I am to be baptized."

Miss Garden said she had been advised by her physician not to work as hard this year as she did last. She said she was not a suffragette, and did not believe in the suffrage movement.

"A woman's brain," she said, "weighs two ounces less than a man's. There is a reason why men should be superior to women in government and affairs."

O'NEIL NOT TO BE CANDIDATE

Former Congressman Joseph H. O'Neil, it was announced to-day by one of his close friends, will not be a candidate for Mayor of Boston at the coming election. At a meeting of some of the friends of the former Congressman it is understood that he made known his decision in this matter. One of the reasons why Mr. O'Neil reached this conclusion, it was said, is that he does not care to enter the contest in which it is manifest there are to be an unprecedented number of candidates.

It was understood that had Plan One carried that Mr. O'Neil would have been a candidate for nomination at the Democratic convention, as he has said he would be willing to make the race should he find that there was a strong feeling in the city that he should do so.

Congressman John W. Weeks of Newton has bought the estate at Lancaster, N. H., which was his boyhood home. He will have it used as a home of aged women.

"COOK MUST PROVE CLAIM"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—"We must be shown," was the comment of Professor Willis L. Moore, president of the National Geographic Society, in speaking of "other explorers" whose records are to be subjected to a rigid scientific test looking to a speedy settlement of the question of priority in the Cook and Peary claims of discovery of the Pole.

Professor Moore declared that the society and its 50,000 members will spare no expense to have this question settled.

The committee of scientists to be appointed later will be authorized to go to Copenhagen, or any other place to make their investigations. Dr. Cook's name was not directly alluded to in the statement given out by the society, but the resolutions adopted were clearly directed at him.

SEA DOG TO QUIT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Captain John Pritchard, commodore of the Cunard line, who began his fifty-three years' service at sea in a 150-ton schooner and who ends it in command of the 25,000-ton S.S. Mauretania, announced to-day that he had handed in his resignation.

NO CONTEMPT BY STRIKERS

Eight local labor leaders, charged with contempt of court in an alleged violation of an injunction restraining picketing about the seven Boston shops still affected by the twenty-two-week strike entered into negotiations with the union looking toward a settlement. It is expected that no penalties will be imposed, but effective action in strike days at the latest. The announcement of the finding was received with loud cheers at the union headquarters, No. 7 Paul street, where several of the strikers had gathered awaiting the outcome of the contempt case, which had been held in advance by Judge Pierce for almost three weeks.

Charles L. Fromer, international organizer of the union, with William Gittin, secretary of the Boston local, Jacob Gittin, Samuel Bornik, J. Lesowitz, A. Gittin, Joseph Spera and W. Mc—lin, were the men charged with contempt.

14 CANDIDATES OUT FOR MAYOR

Rush to Get in the Municipal Race Continues with Unabated Vigor—Fitzgerald Attacks Committee of One Hundred

The mayoralty campaign began to sizzle to-day. The number of candidates up to the time this issue of the paper went to press totalled fourteen. At that time there were forty candidates for the Council.

While there can only be twenty-one real candidates for Mayor, that number exhausting the possible signatures, there is no limit to the number of men who may try to be candidates. To be a candidate one must have at least 5,000 signatures. There are only about 108,600 signatures possible, so that fixes the limit of candidates.

Matthew Cummings entered the field to-day. He is national president of the Commissioners of Street Cleaning under Fitzgerald. John J. McClosky of Ashmont took out the papers for Cummings.

Fred J. Rowland was another new candidate. He was formerly a member of the Board of Aldermen. It is believed that he will be backed by the labor unions of the city. Other new aspirants to the mayoralty as its chief magistrate at $10,000 per year were Francis J. Doherty of Charlestown, H. T. Wheeler of No. 40 Mapleton street and Dennis F. Mahoney of Ward 9.

Wheeler is a reporter for an evening newspaper. Mahoney is something of a mystery, no one being able to run down his address and business as yet.

Daniel A. Whelton came out for the council to-day. He was formerly an alderman and followed Patrick A. Collins as Acting Mayor. Councilman Charles Hardy of Ward 20 and Patrick J. Sheehan of No. 656 Harrison avenue have also taken out papers for the council. Alderman Tom Giblin finds it pretty hard to get signatures for his candidacy for the council. He will start out to-night in an automobile, and expects crowds wherever he can find them canvass the crowds.

John F. Fitzgerald has hit back at Dr Morton Prince of the Committee of One Hundred because he has advised voters to be slow in signing papers for would-be candidates.

Fitzgerald Makes Statement.

Here is the ex-Mayor's statement to-day:

"It is unfortunate that five candidates already in the field for political honors must be handicapped in their campaign for signatures by the cry of the reform element that there is danger in signing nomination papers at once. It is a plain attempt to hold back the live candidate until the political invalid or the new born party gets ready to start their campaign.

"I want to say to voters that there is no more danger in signing the first nomination paper presented for your signature than there is in signing the last, provided you approve of the candidate. The signing of a paper does not commit a voter to anything. He is at liberty on election day to vote for whom he pleases. In signing a nomination paper a voter is merely assisting a candidate to fulfil the requirements of the law as set forth under Plan Two.

"There are other honorable men in the field besides those that the Committee of One Hundred might propose and I know all already active can be trusted to respect the confidence of those who assist them equally as well as any reform candidate."

Motorman Gets Papers.

The first person to take out mayoralty nomination papers to-day was a tall, blonde youth, who gave his name as H. T. Wheeler and his address as No. 40 Mapleton street.

CHARGES RUM RULES LYNN CITY HALL

LYNN, Oct. 4.—Claiming that the rule of Lynn dominates City Hall and that he can abolish graft by brewery interests in municipal politics, William A. Kelley, former representative and Democratic standard bearer, to-day announced himself a candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination against James E. Rich, the motorman mayor, and promises a red-hot campaign.

MRS. WILLARD DEAD.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Sarah Kellogg Willard, aged seventy-seven, wife of Henry A. Willard of Washington, D. C., proprietor of the Willard Hotel, died in that city suddenly. She was the daughter of Daniel Kellogg of Brattleboro. She was a well-known Summer visitor.

NORDICA ON STAND IN FIGHT FOR RICH ESTATE

Lillian Nordica, as she looked in court to-day. Snapshot by Boston American photographer.

Mme. Lillian Nordica was a witness in the Supreme Court at East Cambridge to-day at the hearing on the appeal from the probating of the will of her aunt, Mrs. Vannie P. Atlen, who left everything to a niece and nothing to the prima donna.

Mme. Nordica gave her name as Lillian Nordica Young of New York when she took the witness stand. She was dressed in a black velvet suit trimmed with white lace. She carried a gold chatelaine bag and wore a blue turban hat trimmed with feathers.

She was questioned by her attorney, Robert P. Light. She said that ever since she could remember she understood that the fortune of her uncle, John Allen, was to be distributed equally among the heirs.

Singer Names the Heirs.

"And whom do you consider were the heirs?" Mme. Nordica was asked. "The heirs were my uncle's own sisters, which included my mother, Mrs. Annie Baldwin, Mrs. Imogene Costello and Mrs. Ione A. Walker.

"My mother and another of my uncle's sisters educated him. They sent him to college and made it possible for him to make the fortune that he did.

"My uncle and his wife frequently called to see me. Whenever I sang in Boston they came to see me. Four or five years ago my uncle came to me. He was an insurance broker at the time and he said: 'Lillian, why don't you take out an insurance policy.' I told him that I was already insured.

"Then he said, 'Lillian, you are young now and you should look ahead for the future.' I told him that I did not need any more insurance, and he said, 'Why not take out a small policy for $25,000?' I replied that $25,000 was quite a sum of money and that the premium would be a large one. I asked him if in the event of my taking such a policy he would divide the commission with me so that the premium would be smaller. He said that was against the law.

"Then he said, 'What is the difference if I have this money for a time or not? Eventually it will all come to you and the other heirs, Lillian.'

Took $25,000 Policy.

"Under his pressure and advice I took out the policy for $25,000. In later conversations with him he told me that the money that he would leave would go to my mother and other relatives on the death of his wife.

"At one time he told me that he was going to leave his wife a life interest in the estate so that she could go to Europe and study art. He consulted me about that and asked my advice on how she should go and how much it would cost. I told him that it would be very expensive and that it would encumber the estate. He replied, 'Oh, there will be enough left for you and the rest.'"

Mme. Nordica then produced a diary which was admitted as evidence to show the dates when the Allens called to see her. She was cross-examined by Mr. Edley, attorney for the heirs. Under cross-examination she admitted that she and the other contestants were amply provided for. Otherwise her testimony was not changed.

VICTIM OF TRAIN NOT IDENTIFIED

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 4.—The dead body of a man, well-dressed, about thirty-five years of age, was found early to-day on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad here. The dead man is thought to be William Sauter of Bay State, a suburb of Northampton. It is supposed that the man was run down on the tracks about three o'clock this morning, but Medical Examiner Seymour is investigating.

ONLY MELLEN CAN PREVENT GREAT STRIKE

It is up to President Charles S. Mellen whether the 2,000 clerks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad go on strike. The company has offered a compromise, but the clerks will not accept it. A conference between the clerks' representatives and the officials of the company is on at New Haven to-day. The time of the strike will be decided during the day.

The clerks have put their case completely in the hands of Vice-President J. J. Forrester of the National Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and a grievance committee. The vote authorizing them to call a strike was 2,200 to 150. Ninety-five per cent. of the clerks voted in favor.

May Go Out To-morrow.

Mr. Forrester and the committee have full authority to call out the clerks and prepared to-day to take the call. As a matter of courtesy to the company, as they put it, the men who have the clerks' case in charge decided, however, to give the company one more opportunity to avert a strike and to-day's conference was arranged for that reason.

The strike leaders, at New Haven, however, were pessimistic to-day concerning the outcome of this conference and fully expected to call the strike for to-morrow, or Saturday, at the latest.

The men, who are getting from $1.50 to $2 a day, have demanded a minimum of $2 a day, and General Manager E. Higgins has refused it. To-day an offer of a minimum of $1.75 a day was offered by the company, but it was promptly rejected.

Trouble Put Up to Mellen.

With all but 5 per cent. of the clerks in favor of striking, their leaders say that they cannot now recede from their position and that on account of the strike should not be called. It was announced to-day that the clerks are backed by the American Federation of Labor. This has given the Brotherhood representatives additional encouragement to fight for their demands.

The responsible officers of the New Haven, having rejected all the clerks' demands, feel that there is now no more recourse except to President Mellen himself and they put the matter squarely up to Mr. Mellen.

NEW WITNESS CALLED IN THE RUSSELL CASE

Former Mayor Sidney Bartlett of Melrose appeared in the courtroom in East Cambridge to-day at the resumption of the contest of Daniel Blake Russell of North Dakota for a share in the $500,000 estate left by Daniel Russell of Melrose. It is believed that former Mayor Bartlett, who was a Sunday school teacher in Melrose when Daniel Blake Russell was a boy, will be called to the stand to-day to testify against him.

Lawrence Brown of Dickinson, N. D., a former employe of Daniel Blake Russell on his ranch, who has been brought here by the attorneys for William Russell, to-day took the stand and denied statements that it is alleged he made to Daniel Blake Russell's attorney in an interrogatory last Spring.

Brown has already testified that "Dan" Russell had told him on the ranch about his family on several occasions. The interrogatory was taken last Spring by Attorney Simpson, senior counsel for Daniel Russell.

"Daniel Blake Russell didn't tell me where he came from," testified Brown to-day while being cross-examined by Attorney Simpson.

Brown admitted that Mrs. Theodora Hayes, a witness for Daniel Blake Russell, called to see him at the Quincy House last night and told him that he had made a mistake in his testimony.

"Do you want to correct any of your testimony?" asked Attorney Simpson of the witness.

"Yes, I do," replied Brown.

"Something in regard to the trunk being open on Daniel Blake Russell's ranch during his absence?" asked Attorney Simpson.

"Yes, the trunk didn't belong to Mrs. Hayes," replied Brown.

Brown yesterday testified that he did not know anything about any trunk nor had being opened while Daniel Blake Russell was away.

Mrs. Josephine Bennett of North Dakota was shown a letter alleged to have been written by Daniel Russell and identified it. "I could tell his writing with my eyes shut," she said.

She said that Russell had once told her when she asked him where Melrose was that he did not know. "It's back East somewhere," she said he told her.

SUFFRAGETTES BORE ME, SAYS MRS. SNOWDEN

That the motives of the English militant suffragettes are good, but their methods inane, is the outspoken belief of Mrs. Philip Snowden, who represents the anti-militant suffragettes of England. Mrs. Snowden, who arrived Tuesday in New York, is coming to Boston to lecture on the political questions of England as they affect women. Her husband is a member of Parliament.

"The motives of the suffragettes are pure, but the women are obsessed," said Mrs. Snowden in New York yesterday. She is a guest at the home of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, No. 2 West Eighty-sixth street. She is both young and beautiful and throws her whole heart into her work.

"Mrs. Pankhurst's followers include many young people who have more enthusiasm than wisdom," continued Mrs. Snowden. "I myself belong to the National Union of Women Suffragists. They are not militant and never will be, because they are people of more mature and developed.

"I am bored to death by the militant methods, and the government, besides being harassed, is ashamed of that section of our movement. I believe that if the Conservatives are returned to power at the next general election, Arthur Balfour will be a friend to woman suffrage.

"No government in its senses could yield to the ill-directed force of a minority and sin against this lawlessness. The weakness of the militant movement is that the majority of women in England are not for suffrage."

Speaking of Mrs. Pankhurst's declaration that the English women would get the right within two years to vote, Mrs. Snowden said: "In the cloudy language of your country, she is talking through her hat.

"In England the papers are far more tolerant than they once were, but they are not nearly so considerate as yours. I suppose that is because women are more respected in this country than in England."

On Saturday morning Mrs. Snowden will speak before the League for Political Education at the Hotel Touraine. She is the honor guest at a reception given by Mrs. Catt.

HOOKWORM ATTACKS THE PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The hookworm disease has been brought to San Francisco from Hawaii and the Orient and hundreds of cases of hitherto unexplained dejection, laziness and general lack of moral initiative are now attributed to the inroads of the little parasite, according to Dr. Herbert Gunn, who is directing a campaign against the disease.

"I have treated more than one hundred cases of hookworm in this city," he said to-day. "The disease has not been known to exist in California, except in very rare instances, under four years ago. A colony of laborers, who were born in the Far Indies, came here from Hawaii, and 45 per cent were found to be seriously affected.

Men's Underwear, Hose, Shirts and Sweaters

Men's Negligee Shirts, Coat style shirts, in attractive black and white designs, the identical materials often used in $1.50 shirts. A few weeks ago we placed on sale two dozen of these shirts, and they sold out so fast we were obliged to wire for more to fill orders. Shirts worth double the price we ask..... 79c

Men's Heavy Fleeced Underwear, mottled gray color, shirts ribbon faced, pearl buttons and in every way compare very favorably with Wright's Health underwear. Of course, they are not lambs' wool fleeced, but make a good warm winter undersuit. Worth 75c, and a bargain at this special price..... 56c

Men's Heavy Natural Wool Underwear, a warm heavy winter garment, finished and trimmed just the same as a great many so-called "better grade garments." All perfect and are guaranteed to give first-class satisfaction. All sizes up to 50. Extra value. Sale price.... 1.00

Men's Heavy Cotton Jersey Underwear—As a great many cannot wear wool next the skin, this garment takes its place in warmth, comfort and durability. Every piece is perfect fitting and full size. Only one case of this quality offered at this price. 75c value, at..... 50c

Men's Cast Sweaters, in plain gray, gray and navy, gray and maroon, all sleeves trimmed with large ocean pearl buttons, well made and compare very favorably with high-priced sweaters—warm and durable, being made with heavy twisted yarns. A remarkable value at..... 3.00

Men's Heavy Union Suits, natural color, jersey fitting "Set-snug Brand," all sizes up to 44. These are "mill runs" of this mill's high grade numbers and are a bargain. $2.00 value, at 1.49

Men's Black Cashmere Hose—Always a very popular 25c number with us, but this year the manufacturer was unfortunate enough, in experimenting on a double sole, to have about 100 dozen come out with irregular gray threads running through parts of the sole. This, of course, does not hurt the looks or wear of the sock when it is on, so, instead of 25c a pair, buy a year's supply now at 15c

RIOT OVER STEINHEIL AS JUDGE DENOUNCES WOMAN'S PLAY ON JURY

ued cries of approbation of the crowd that were stilled only when the municipal police compelled order.

Fights to Save Her Name.

Bit by bit the story of her suitors was torn from Mme. Steinheil, while pale and at times distraught to the point of collapse, she fought to save her name.

Then with a virulent attack in which he characterized her conduct as brazen and a mere attempt to sway the jury, the presiding magistrate, M. de Valles, opened the interrogation as to the actual crime of which she is accused.

The witness, quivering as if she was constantly in danger of a hysterical breakdown, struggled against the insinuations and charges of the judge, crying that her tears were true and that she was a woman in agony.

Relentless in the face of her protestations, the magistrate continued to pick her story to pieces.

"Stage play and stage sorrow," he exclaimed when he reviewed her conduct on the stand yesterday. A moment later the counsel for the prisoner broke in with a protest that was drowned.

Story of Crime Taken Up.

Nevertheless, the judge, speaking with little show of emotion, continued with his flat charges of aiding.

Mme. Steinheil, when she entered the court to-day, was calmer than during the hearing yesterday. As usual in her simple costume of black, and the same round hat from which she peered at the crowd, at the witnesses, and, especially, at the jurymen.

The story of Mme. Steinheil's love affairs was taken up where it had been dropped at the conclusion of yesterday's session, and by one the names that have been linked with hers were mentioned and the spectators were forced to hear told once more all the gossip that has been spun about her since her witchery first brought her into prominence.

Protesting and fighting every word, she struggled to counteract the effect of this recital on the jury. As question after question was put to her she denied and wept, admitting only a few of the minor accusations.

Then, when that line of attack was dropped, the story of the crime was taken up. The queries were not hurried at her—they were put with the deftness of rapier thrusts.

A Rapier Like Exchange.

The woman was on the duelling ground and she returned and parried with all the defence and cleverness that have made her one of the foremost figures in the capital of the world of wit.

The examination at this stage was more of an inquisition than a trial, since the place which dealt with the affairs of her heart.

It was the third degree of the police conducted in open court, with the most famous journalists of France and the crowd of political and society men for audience.

The sheets of papers covered with the report of Mme. Steinheil's inquisition when she was first arrested were brought forward for the first time.

Introduced as a part of the evidence against her, the prosecutor, M. Fromard Bidie, made all of the testimony that she never admitted result. Every word that Mme. Steinheil had uttered to the police in their first days of her confinement was read, even when the police looked to her for aid in finding the murderers of her mother-in-law and husband, was taken up, examined and developed, in a maze of questions.

Contradictions were found, grave discrepancies in different statements. When each of these was brought up she replied dramatically, "They made me say what they asked."

Signs of a Breakdown.

As she delivered this speech her manner at times was almost listless—the pose of a mere woman in the hands of clever inquisitors—and again was warm with protest at the unfairness she charged.

There were times to-day that the prisoner is slowly breaking down under the terrible strain which would wear away the fortitude of the most hardened criminal. Her fight to-day was even more desperate than that she made at the first hearing, and it

SYRIANS DECLARED OF THE WHITE RACE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Incident to the conclusion of the investigation of Commerce and Labor that Turkish subjects are not entitled to naturalization, Dr. Ales Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian Institution, has confirmed his contention that the Syrians and their racial kinsmen bought by Chief Campbell to be excluded, are indisputably of the white race.

"OLD" WHISKEY PUZZLES JUDGES

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—Three learned jurists, wrinkled their foreheads and scratched their lofty brows in the Appelate Court to-day and confessed that they didn't know in what age whiskey is "old."

question whether Postmaster Meyer of Newport, Ky., was entitled to send alleged fraud letters of the York Distilling Company was being discussed. In the case may be thrown out. The company is alleged to have sold whiskey that wasn't old for the antique.

Madame Steinheil, as She Looked in Court

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Madame Steinheil, whether merely the "Du Barry of the third republic" or the "Lady Macbeth of modern France," proved the remarkable power of her beauty in the opening scenes of her trial. Clad in her widow's black, the tragic veil framing the prison pallor of her beautiful and strangely youthful face, and not quite concealing the masses of her blonde hair, she faced the verbal onslaught of the presiding judge with baffling changes of voice and poise and manner that ranged from perfect calm to wild emotion, from open defiance to pathetic pleading. The woman is youthful in spite of her thirty-nine years and her long imprisonment. She is slender, and was garbed with real elegance in a simple black gown, yet low enough to admit a glimpse of the white throat. She wore a toque, ornamented with jade beads, from which fell the long folds of her widow's veil. She defended her father and her husband with courage and eloquence. At times she wept. Her voice, of rare sweetness and power, caused the jurors to lean forward to listen. Many in the room remarked that the world had lost the greatest actress of the generation when she turned to other things.

was this that her opponents took as an indication that she will not be able to withstand the terrific and incessant grilling.

Before she was taken to the Palais de Justice she held a long conference with her attorney in her cell at St. Lazare prison.

In that she betrayed the wonderful cleverness of her mind, which her enemies take as a certain indication that she is playing a part such as few women have ever before enacted with the consummate ease that marks Mme. Steinheil.

Remarkable Handling of Case.

Not an incident of yesterday's hearing but escaped her. Those who know the manner in which she discussed the case with Maitre Aubin declared later that not only every point of the prosecution, but the feelings indicated by the field and expression and vocal inflections of the jury, men and of the witnesses was taken up by this woman who is fighting for her life. With potent and delicate psychology she weighed each factor, large and small, in her effort.

Not only that, but she betrayed complete familiarity with hundreds of the more important documents which she assembled for her counsel's use before the trial opened.

In spite of the announcement that no spectators would be admitted to the court room to-day, the rule enforced yesterday being active for the entire trial, there was a great crowd about the Palais de Justice long before the hour set for the opening of the second hearing.

When the prisoner arrived at the gates of the Palais in an automobile, the demonstrations of hate or faith that marked her receptions yesterday were repeated, and throughout her trip from the prison to the structure in which the trial progressed were crowded.

MEDFORD HAS 3RD DISPLAY OF PREMIUMS

Another branch display of the household premiums being offered by the BOSTON AMERICAN was opened today in Medford at the periodical and confectionery store of Frank H. Peak, on Riverside avenue, next door to the postoffice, in Medford square. The pretty Venetian lamps and the Mission wall clock mounted on a background of Medford High School football team colors made an instantaneous hit and crowds gathered around the window all through the day.

The opening of the display in Medford makes three special displays opened in addition to the pretty display made in the BOSTON AMERICAN building, and all of the exhibitions are attracting much favorable comment. The other displays opened are in Everett at Kinsley & Company, prescription druggists, and Everett square; in Malden at S. A. Miller, cigars, confectionery and papers, No. 128 Main street, right in Malden square.

These premiums are open to old and new readers of the BOSTON AMERICAN alike. Any reader may secure as many of the premiums as he or she likes. All that is required is to clip thirty coupons of consecutive dates, daily and Sunday, bind them with a small cash payment will entitle the holder to one of the premiums.

REMEMBER THIS—It makes no difference when you start saving the coupons. You need not have started at the beginning. You can start to-day. You can start any day. But save thirty of consecutive dates, daily and Sunday, and you can save as many "thirties" as you like, but no two coupons of the same date will be accepted in any one set.

Visit the display room of the various premiums on the fifth floor of the BOSTON AMERICAN building, or see the displays at some one of the other places mentioned. You will find yourself well repaid. The premiums offer some exceptional values and the articles are useful, valuable and ornamental. They are practically indispensable in any well furnished home, office or place of business.

WANTED, BABY'S NAME; POTTER PALMER IV.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Wanted: One name for a baby. The one in question, a boy, boasts six months of life. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, Jr., and his grandparents are Mrs. Potter Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kohlsaat. Hoping to please them, we call his first boy Potter Palmer for his father, instead of Potter Palmer, Jr., for himself. When the son arrived in the family of Potter Palmer, Jr., there was a struggle as to whether he'd be called the son of Potter Palmer II. Could the son of Potter Palmer II. be called Potter Palmer IV.? Possibly, but he hasn't been so far.

CHICAGO MERCHANT DIES.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—John M. Smyth, millionaire merchant, prominent citizen and a power in public politics, died to-day. He had been ill for a week. His wife, five sons and three daughters were at his bedside.

CUMMINGS, FOURTEENTH IN THE RACE

Brighton. He declined to say whom he represented. It was said that Mr. Wheeler is a reporter for a mining newspaper.

Francis J. Doherty of No. 28 Marion street, Charlestown, who was mum as to who sent him, but who is said to be friendly to the candidacy of John R. Murphy, took out papers for Mayor.

Thomas F. Kelley, of No. 614 Dallas place, Roxbury, a motorman, took out nomination papers for Mayor for himself.

John D. Marks, a lawyer, member of the Ward 20 Red Devils, took out nomination papers for School Committeeman.

John E. Potts, labor leader; George T. Daly, lieutenant of Senator Boyle in Ward 12, and Councilman Francis R. Greene of Ward 3, Charlestown, took out papers for the City Council. Daly's candidacy is considered by politicians as an anti-Curley move.

Anti-Fitzgerald Possibilities.

Developments to-day in the mayoralty contest indicate that the interests behind the Committee of One Hundred plan to make former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald the chief issue in the campaign. James J. Storrow, Bernard J. Rothwell and Dr. Morton Prince are the anti-Fitzgerald possibilities whom the Committee of One Hundred are considering.

Lieutenants of former Mayor Fitzgerald said to-day that nothing would please Mr. Fitzgerald more than to be made the campaign issue of his opponents. The ex-Mayor plans to make himself the issue, his friends say. "Any help from other sources would be gratefully received," they declare.

Movements by the Committee of One Hundred were made quietly. A lot of persons are being sounded on the mayoralty question. Advices from men who know indicate that James J. Storrow will not enter the race unless he has something stronger than a fighting chance to win. If he decides not to run, the plan of his supporters is to nominate instead a Democrat or at least some one who has not been prominent in Republican circles.

Neither former Governor Bates nor former Governor Guild will be candidates. A story which originated not far from Hanker Hill street, Charlestown, Former Senator Charles S. Sullivan will preside over Fitzgerald's mayoralty campaign of ten weeks is on with a rush.

Among those who have taken out mayoralty nomination papers are: Mayor Hibbard, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Chairman Fred J. Brand of the Board of Aldermen, Nathaniel H. Taylor, Editor Frank J. Sieberlich, hotel proprietor; Michael J. McGrath, former Congressman J. Henry Dackery (colored), settlement worker; Dennis F. Mehoney, friend of John Thomas F. Kelley, motorman, and two "unknowns," for whom H. F. Wheeler and Frank J. Doherty took out papers.

Despite the fact that party designations have been wiped out by the adoption of Plan Two, the Republican committee of Ward 24 has organized for the coming year by electing James Doughass as chairman. He is circulating nomination papers for Nathaniel Thayer, former Councilman Walter Nichols, another Republican, is also circulating papers for Mr. Taylor.

Campaign Is On.

With fourteen candidates now seeking signatures to nomination papers for Mayor, there were more waiting for the pseudonym at which to take out papers at a moment at which to take out papers announce their candidacies, with one exception, that he might be tempted to run, and with at least a dozen more anxious to be tempted, but not admitting it. Boston's mayoralty campaign of ten weeks is on with a rush.

Among those who have taken out mayoralty nomination papers are: Mayor Hibbard, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Chairman Fred J. Brand of the Board of Aldermen, Nathaniel H. Taylor, Editor Frank J. Sieberlich, hotel proprietor; Michael J. McGrath, former Congressman J. Henry Dackery (colored), settlement worker; Dennis F. Mehoney, friend of John Thomas F. Kelley, motorman, and two "unknowns," for whom H. F. Wheeler and Frank J. Doherty took out papers.

Despite the fact that party designations have been wiped out by the adoption of Plan Two, the Republican committee of Ward 24 has organized for the coming year by electing James Douglass as chairman. He is circulating nomination papers for Nathaniel Thayer, former Councilman Walter Nichols, another Republican, is also circulating papers for Mr. Taylor.

ZELAYA LOSES FIERCE BATTLE

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Nov. 4.—A terrific battle between the revolutionists and the government forces has been fought and to-day the rebels are in possession of Concuent, but that he had imposed on Los Lajas, near Los Chiles. Many are reported to have fallen on both sides. Machine guns being used with terrible effect. Lajas is one of the most important strategic points in Nicaragua and the loss of it means a severe blow to the tottering government of President Zelaya. The revolutionary general, Castillo, is in command of the vanguard of the army of General Estrada, the pretender. It is believed that Estrada is prepared to march on Managua, the capital, where Zelaya is entrenched.

$5,000,000 CITY LOAN TAKEN UP

City Treasurer Slattery in this week paying off the $5,000,000 borrowed from time to time since the first of the year in anticipation of the payment of taxes, leaving the city free from any short-term indebtedness. A year ago the city borrowed $6,400,000 on twelve months' notes and $10,000,000. The loans are being paid from the City Collector's receipts on a total of $10,071,000 in the past five weeks, which is the largest total collected for any five weeks' period in the history of the city.

BRIDE SENDS "COUNT" AWAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—After confessing bride of three days that he is neither Count Alphonse de Pourtales nor Marquis de Pourtales, but that he had imposed on Miss Ada Durlacher, daughter of F. Durlacher of No. 12 Jumel place, Manhattan, has packed up his suit case and left the city.

"I don't know where he is," sobbed Mrs. Durlacher when seen at her father's home. "When he told me that he was not the Count or a marquis the thought came to my mind that he would have to face an awful criticism, and I advised him to leave town for a few days.

"To-morrow he will be well out of country. I am not going to say where he is gone, but he will come back when I send for him."

LAD LOCATED BY AMERICAN

WHITMAN, Nov. 4.—By the means of a picture published in an early edition of the Boston American to-day Dr. A. G. Brewood of Whitman found little Joseph Mena, six years old, who was taken away by his father two years ago and for information about whom Mrs. Alice Mena, wife of Samuel Mena of No. 27 Oxford street, Lynn, made an appeal to readers of the American.

Dr. Grewood instantly recognized the lad, of whom a good likeness appeared in the paper, and notified the American. He said that the boy is living in Bay street, Whitman, where he appeared two years ago. The lad said his father was a tailor by trade and was dead. Neighbors helped the homeless boy.

Samuel Mena went away from his wife two years ago, and his wife lost all trace of both him and the little boy. She thought they went to Brockton.

About two months ago a friend of her husband gave her a picture of the lad, and with that her hope of recovering the boy was revived. She asked the AMERICAN to publish the photograph in the hope that by that means she might locate him.

TAFT TO VISIT PANAMA CANAL

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 4.—President Taft will soon visit the Panama Canal on a tour of inspection.

This became known to-day when Colonel E. L. Russell, who was with the President at Columbus, Miss., during his visit there, announced that the President will come to Mobile to embark for his trip to the Canal Zone.

COURT AND TOMBS UNSAFE TO OCCUPY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—All business in the $2,000,000 criminal courts building ceased to-day because it was unsafe. Subsequently a board of survey discovered a fissure in one of the walls of the Tombs prison. Consideration was given to the possible necessity of emptying the Tombs of its 524 prisoners and attaches. The criminal courts building may have to be razed.

EXERCISE, GOOD AND BAD—

Mme. Cavallieri, in the Sunday American, gives another splendid article on beauty and health, how to attain and how to preserve them.

TOBACCO TRADE HIT.

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—The new tobacco tax is responsible to-day for the idleness of 10,000 workers in tobacco factories. Wholesale reductions in the staffs of factories have been reported.

DAVID A. ELLIS TO RUN AGAIN

David A. Ellis, present chairman of the Boston School Committee, will be a candidate for re-election this year with the endorsement of the Public School Association. He conferred to-day with officers of the Public School Association. Immediately afterward, the association took out a set of nomination papers for school committeemen. Candidates for this office must be nominated by petitions bearing 5,000 signatures, under the new charter. Hitherto party candidates have been nominated in conventions, and independent candidates on nomination papers.

CALL MORSE TO SERVE ON JURY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Charles W. Morse in the Tombs pending an appeal from his sentence of fifteen years in the Federal prison at Atlanta, was to-day served with a notice to appear forthwith for jury duty in the United States Circuit Court. The notice carried with it the threat that Morse would be fined $250 if he violated it. But he couldn't get away. The fact that he is under sentence bars him from jury service.

SUICIDE INCREASING AMONG WELL-TO-DO

Frederick L. Hoffman, in an article entitled "The Suicide Record of 1908" in The Spectator, asserts that the suicide rate is increasing in unusual degree last year, and expresses the belief that suicide is becoming more common among the well educated and well-to-do.

DR. COOK AT WORK ON HIS POLAR PROOFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook came back to New York and went quietly to his hotel to prepare his data on Arctic exploration for the University of Copenhagen. He is much fatigued after his wonderful trip.

The Brooklyn explorer may be invited to join the polar expedition of the Canadian explorer, Captain Joseph E. Bernier, according to a letter from Bernier received to-day by R. S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic club of America.

Weak? Tired? Run-down?

These conditions come from overwork, a weak stomach, overtaxed nerves or feeble blood. When you feel "all in"—hardly able to drag about, no energy, no ambition, easily exhausted and can't sleep—take and note what a difference they make in your condition. The stomach is the first to feel the good effects. Digestion is strengthened, bowels and bile work regularly, the blood is cleansed, and the nerves rested. The whole system responds to the tonic action of Beecham's Pills. Soon there is the buoyant feeling of returning health,

CHARGE MRS. STETSON WITH BEING A MEDIUM AND HOLDING SEANCES

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Christian attitude of the church toward Mrs. Stetson Science Board of Directors at Boston, in a and her co-practitioners.
letter dispatched to New York, read the committee of inquiry of the First Church a lesson in Christian Science doctrine.

The committee of inquiry in the body which presents a report to the members of the First Church to-day, dealing with the

In addition to the letter new disclosures were made to-day concerning alleged teachings and practices of Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, which probably will be part of the matter to be considered.

That Mrs. Stetson held seances in which a vacant chair was placed in a conspicuous place, and that she told her practitioners, who sat about with closed eyes, that "Mrs. Eddy has come from Brookline to sit in the chair," is one of the elements of the latest charges.

The Christian Science board's reply, through J. V. Dittemore, its secretary, says in part:

"With respect to your protest against what you call interference on our part, we beg to say that the jurisdiction of this board extends to every matter affecting the cause of Christian Science as a whole.

Scope of Board's Power.

"Also that this board may deal with such matters directly or take them up with officers of branch churches, according to the exigency of the case, and in accordance with the bylaws of this church.

"The relations between the mother church and its branches necessarily given to this board such supervision over the branches as may be necessary to preserve the purity and integrity of the Christian religion which it represents.

"We must, in Christian fellowship, call your attention to the fact that your conception of Christian Science, expressed in your letter, is erroneous, and of itself shows the difficulty under which you are laboring.

"Your statement that you call upon the members of this board 'to know that every case connected with the inquiry of with the constituted authority of this branch church is a reflection of mind is subject only to the one infinite mind,' etc., etc., is nothing more or less than a claim on your part that mortals are the reflection of the infinite mind.

Mortal and Immortal Man.

"Such a claim Mrs. Eddy writes in 'Science and Health,' 'in science we are children of God; but whatever is of material sense, or mortal, belongs not to his children, for maternity is the inverted image of spirituality.'

"And again in 'No and Yes,' 'mortal man is the antipode of immortal man and the two should not be confounded.' The logical effect of your demand is to require us to attribute to you, as mortals, the infallibility of divine mind.

"Finally brethren, we assure you of our hope that you do know and will do your duty; but this will be declared by your report.'

There was made public the charge that in the seances which Mrs. Stetson is said to have held with her practitioners she used the following incantation:

"We are all mental beings. Mrs. Eddy is a mental being. Let us spiritualize our thoughts until we are in the same state of consciousness as she is. I am the most spiritual of you all. I can realize Mrs. Eddy's presence first. You call her in that chair."

The chair to which reference was made was the vacant chair which had been placed in a prominent place near the platform and occupied by Mrs. Stetson's practitioners, but Mrs. Stetson followed her exordium with message purporting to have come through Mrs. Eddy is one of the charges that was considered by the directors of the Mother Church in Boston.

Lost Power to Heal.

That Mrs. Stetson has lost her power to heal is another allegation. The Boston officials have been informed she keeps a complete record of the "diseases and sins" of every patient who goes to one of her practitioners, but that she herself had found that she cannot heal and that she now attempts to "heal through her students."

In their investigation of the teachings and practices of Mrs. Stetson the directors of the Mother Church did not go into extensive research as to how, when or why she lost her power to heal, but they did become interested in her conception of democracy in church rule.

They had before them a letter written to Mrs. Eddy by Mrs. Stetson and dated May 23, 1909, in which appeared the following sentence:

"For twenty consecutive years we have never had a divided vote nor a dissenting vote at any of our church meetings. Certainly this unity is a fulfillment of ideal democracy."

CITY DROPPING INTO MINES—Read in the Sunday American of the doom that is coming to a whole city.

Fermentation and Flatulence Prevented

In the Stomach by Charcoal, the Great Absorbent, Anti-Fermentative and Deodorant.

Some years ago Dr. Belloc, a retired surgeon of the French army, turned his attention to charcoal as a remedy for dyspepsia, fermentation and flatulence, or gas in the stomach and intestines. He was himself a sufferer from these symptoms, and thus had an opportunity of testing personally its therapeutic action.

He decided, after many tests, that charcoal made of willow wood was by far the best. He found that charcoal made of other woods caused a disagreeable taste in the mouth—even painful excoriations of the mucous membrane, as well as thirst and a pinching sensation in the stomach; but not one of these symptoms ever occurred when willow charcoal was employed.

He was in the habit of prescribing from two to six teaspoonfuls for his patients, but he himself frequently took as much as 500 grammes, or more than fifteen ounces per day. There is really no such thing as taking too much charcoal. An excess cannot be taken, for the reason that the more you take the better it is for you, as it is entirely harmless, and through its use your system will be completely cleansed of all its impurities, the fermentation of food and the formation of gas in the stomach prevented and the absorption of toxic products or poisonous material into the blood from the stomach and intestines stopped.

When a regular physician took as much as fifteen ounces of charcoal daily, its harmlessness and beneficial effects as an absorbent, deodorant, germ-destroyer and dyspepsia cure should be apparent to all.

The Academie Nationale de Medicine of Paris reported very favorably on a memoir which Dr. Belloc published in the use of charcoal, and in France it soon became a favorite remedy. Its reputation spread to this country, and now we find charcoal lozenges extensively sold, prescribed and employed as dyspepsia remedies. Dr. Belloc's charcoal was administered to his patients in the form of a powder stirred up in water, which was very disagreeable to the taste, and its efficacy was far less than in the form of a lozenge.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are a great and happy improvement upon this form of administering charcoal. They are made of the best willow charcoal, freshly prepared, and rendered exceedingly palatable by the addition of pure honey, which gives them a taste that is in strong contrast to that of ordinary powdered charcoal. Nothing could be more efficacious in its effects than charcoal given in this desirable form. Two or three of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges taken after meals are sufficient to give complete relief. Go to your druggist and buy a box, but insist on having Stuart's, as there are many worthless imitations on the market, not made of willow wood, but of poplar, boxwood, dogwood, etc., which are no good for the system. For sale everywhere, 25 cents per box. Sample box will be sent free by mail upon request. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

PAINS IN BACK

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Realize It Until It Has Developed Into Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism, Diabetes, or Bright's Disease, Which Will Prove Fatal If Not Checked At Once.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

Will Cure Kidney Trouble of Any Kind as Well as Rheumatism.

Mr. W. R. Rozell of Florence, S. C., who was almost crazy with the pain from Kidney Disease, takes Warner's Safe Cure after the Doctors had failed to help him, and is immediately relieved. He feels like a new man.

On Jan. 12, 1909, Mr. Rozell wrote: "Tell you appreciating what your Safe Cure has done for me, I desire to make the following statement. I was taken seriously ill last November with pains in my back, could hardly move. I went to a Doctor and he told me I had kidney trouble, that I was threatened with Bright's Disease. I kept on getting worse until finally I had to give up. I was almost crazy with pain, sent for the Doctor and he said I had stone in the kidney and that I would have to be operated on or I would surely die. I sent for another Doctor. He came and examined me and said my kidneys were badly inflamed, but he thought he could give me relief, and after I had taken his medicine without good results a friend told me of your Safe Cure. I bought a bottle, and after taking a few doses of it I felt it was doing me good, and I am taking the third bottle now. I am proud to state that I am almost clear of my trouble, feel like a new man, am back at my work again, and I owe it to your wonderful medicine.

"I am pleased to tell all my friends about what it has done for me. You may use this as you see fit."

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off, this causes Gout, Lumbago, Rheumatism of the Joints, Rheumatism of the Muscles, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatism everywhere. Warner's Safe Cure drives out the uric acid.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE for the Kidneys and Liver; Warner's Safe Diabetes Cure for Diabetes; Warner's Safe Rheumatism Cure for Rheumatism and Uric Acid is put up in two regular sizes and is sold by all druggists, at 50c. and $1.00 A BOTTLE. TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

Sham Fight in the Air by German Aeronauts.

BERLIN—The military aeronauts, which are carrying on a series of maneuvres at Cologne, have had an aerial sham fight, the first in the history of aviation. The battle lasted for three hours. Two machines circled above the famous Fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, which was illuminated with searchlights, making feigned attacks and then retreating to escape the fire of special anti-airship guns. Nothing simulating explosives was dropped by the Zeppelin airship taking out message of greeting.

Kaiser Rebuked by a Woman.

BERLIN—The production of Ernst von Wildenbruch's posthumous play, "Der Deutsche Koenig," which met with the greatest success upon the first performance at the Royal Theatre, was carefully superintended by Emperor William, who had a deep admiration for the poet and dramatist. The Emperor discussed various points of the play with the author's widow. Frau Wildenbruch consented to certain changes, but when the Emperor suggested another modification she replied that her husband had attached particular importance to the passage in question. "In that case," said the Kaiser, "it shall stand, as a matter of course."

Conan Doyle's Prize Ring Play.

LONDON—Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, is preparing for the production at the Adelphi Theatre of a play in which he deals with the prize ring. Although he has written a novel on this theme the play has nothing in common with the book except the ring. Only two characters from the novel, young fighters, will be in the play. Some famous ring episodes are to be shown. This is the second pugilistic play for London within a few months, Bernard Shaw's dramatization of his novel, "Cashel Byron's Profession," having attracted much attention not long ago.

Amsterdam Mayor Ousted.

AMSTERDAM—The government of Holland has called upon Herr van Leeuwen to resign the Mayorship of Amsterdam. Herr van Leeuwen represented Holland at the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York, and in a speech made in New York gave the grounds upon which his resignation was requested. He offended the members of the Dutch Cabinet by expressing the conviction that the United States would interfere in the event of Holland being menaced by Germany.

Graft in German Navy Yard.

KIEL—The trial of nine persons implicated in robberies from the navy yard here is proceeding. Four officers and five merchants are accused of being mixed up in the affair. One of the accused merchants, a man of the name of Frankenthal, admitted that during the past commodities had made extraordinary profits at the expense of the imperial navy yard owing to the hopeless embarrassment and ignorance of values and prices on the part of officers.

British Beef from Australia.

LONDON—After many unsuccessful attempts to bring chilled beef from Australia and New Zealand in good condition, a consignment has just arrived from Queensland by the steamer Marathon, which bore the voyage well. It brought good prices in the London market.

New Suffragette Trick.

LONDON—The suffragettes have a new trick. Not content with their past performances, they have taken to throwing stones at telegraph wires so that political speeches cannot be sent out. At Radcliffe they managed to break a postoffice window.

"SNORE? DARNED IF I CARE," SAYS CANNON

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 4.—Uncle Joe Cannon was asked to-day about the story sent out from Memphis that he had driven a young married couple from their berth in an Illinois Central sleeper by his snoring. "So they say I snored, do they? Well, just tell the public that I do not stay awake to see whether I snore or not.

CANADA IS WARNED BY GOLDWIN SMITH

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 4.—With the Executive Council deliberating on the naval defence policy, Goldwin Smith, Canada's foremost publicist, thus warns Canada: "It will evidently be necessary to determine very clearly with whom is to rest declaration of war, and to be assured of the concurrence of the French, Irish and American, as well as English Canadians."

ARCHBISHOP DECLARES FOOTBALL BARBAROUS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—"Football as played at present by the college teams of this country is barbarous and ought to be abolished," said Archbishop Ryan of this city. "I mean, they should play association football, as it is called, nowadays. It is the kind we played when I was at college, where the players kick the ball and not each other."

MRS. PANKHURST IS FETED IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffragette leader, is a guest of local suffragists. Mrs. Pankhurst will be the honor guest at a reception this evening and to-morrow night she will address meeting of women.

ELECTION TOO MUCH FOR OLD TOWN CLOCK

WARE, Nov. 4—Even the town clock shared in the excitement in connection with the election of Chief of Police Maurice Fitzgerald to be Sheriff of Hampshire County—an unheard for Democratic triumph.

At 2:10 p. m. it was stated that Fitzgerald was leading in Ware by several hundred votes. A mighty shout went up from a score of Fitzgerald adherents in front of the Town Hall and the hands of the town clock stood still.

At 8:05 p. m. came a telephone message from Northampton stating that Fitzgerald had defeated the enemy in its own stronghold. The Fitzgerald supporters cheered lustily and the clock started again.

N. B.—This idiosyncrasy on the part of the public and heretofore perfectly sane timepiece is vouched for by a Justice of the peace, two notaries public and the judge of the town court.

NEW HAVEN TO BUILD SHOP IN MAINE?

SACO, Me., Nov. 4.—There is a mystery connected with the negotiating of the big forest land deal ever known in this city. The land purchased extends from the Old Orchard road to the Ferry road, and an effort is being made now to buy the land to the Saco River.

Already 300 acres of land have been bought at a cost of about $15,000. The man who is negotiating this deal for out of town parties is now after land on the lower Ferry road. Among those who have sold property are Silas W. Mitaken, James M. Chadbourne, S. F. Moore, Peter Cote and J. B. Cote.

It is reported that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad is buying this property on which to build immense car shops, at which all the work of its system throughout New England would be done.

BY WIRELESS 4,500 MILES TO FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 4.—Officials of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company declare today that they made a new record for wireless transmission for a five-kilowatt instrument when the operator on the Korea, 4,500 miles at sea, talked with the station on Rocking Hills in this city. At that time the operator reported that he was in communication with Honolulu and Japan.

FOR OPIUM CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Foreign Minister Grey stated in the House of Commons today that the British Government is now considering the United States government's proposal for an international conference to regulate the opium trade.

MULLINS JURY GOES OVER ROUTE TAKEN BY GIRL ON FATAL WALK

The jury that is to pass on the fate of Peter C. Delorey and James Mantir, whose trial for the alleged murder of Annie Mullins began yesterday in the East Cambridge Court, to-day looked at the spot in Squire's field, Arlington, where the girl's throat was cut and her dead body found.

Not only was the place of the murder viewed, but the jurors, carried in three automobiles, traversed the routes traveled by the two young men before and after the tragedy, according to the contention of the State, and visited the various places where the defence will claim they were when the murder took place, in the establishment of their alibis.

Surprise by the Defence.

That the State will claim that Delorey was acquainted with Annie Mullins previous to the tragedy, and that he knew perfectly well the short cuts in North Cambridge and Arlington, was indicated by the visit made to places where the young man and formerly lived, not far from the Van Jagoman house, where the Mullins girl worked.

After leaving the court house the first visit was made to the terminal of the elevated railroad at Sullivan square. This was made at the request of the defence, and it is surmised that they will place Delorey and Mantir at this spot at some time near the hour when the girl was slain.

From there they went to No. 14 Charendon avenue, North Cambridge, a house owned by Mrs. Lizzie K. Delorey, an aunt of one of the accused young men. They went next to No. 21, in the same street, where young Delorey formerly lived.

From this place they went to Squire's field. A crowd had gathered there in anticipation of the visit. The loneliness of the place at night was taken into consideration as the jurors examined the scene of the tragedy.

At Home of the Slain Girl.

From Squire's field the jury was taken to No. 102 Reed street, where Delorey lived as a boy. Visits were also made to the Hills, Sleeper and Reade street schools at the request of the defence, and it is believed that the schools will figure in the proposed alibi.

The jury stopped a few minutes at the home of Professor Hans C. von Jagemann, No. 115 Walker street, where Miss Mullins was employed, and from where she started on her fatal walk on the evening she met her death.

From the house from which Annie Mullins went to her death the jury went to Arlington Centre and Arlington Heights, thence to Lexington, which is the route the government alleges was taken by the girl's murderers after her body had been dragged into the field.

From Lexington the jury was taken to the farm of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Delorey, in South Billerica, where the defendants were employed in March, 1908. District Attorney Higgins pointed out many places on the farm which he expects will be of importance in weeding the sot about the defendants.

This part of the jury's trip was at the request of the counsel for the prosecution. After the tour of the Delorey farm the route set for the defendants escorted the jurors from Sullivan square, Charlestown, to Tufts' square, Somerville, to Cameron street and Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. They pointed out objects, distances and other details which they believe will be important in proving that Delorey and Mantir could have had no part in the slaying of Annie Mullins.

Immediately after the close of the inspection the jury returned to East Cambridge and the introduction of evidence by the government begins. The trial will probably last about ten days.

Defendant Indifferent.

The jurors are already in charge of Sheriff Fairbairn. Sleeping quarters have been fitted up in the Probate Court room and during the trial the jurymen will take their meals at a hotel near by. The jurors have been with their families for the last time until the trial is ended. Both defendants are maintaining the indifference which has marked their conduct since their arrest.

Mantir's only worry is the fear lest his aged mother in Greece learn of his plight. He has continued writing her since his arrest, but has kept from her the tragic event in his life. He intends to fight his battle against the death chair without her assistance; if he is convicted, the fact will never know of his discharge. He is, however, confident that he will be freed and that his mother need never know that he has been in the shadow of the chair.

TRIPLE SHOOTING ROMANCE SEQUEL

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 4.—A romance of two continents had a tragic ending here here to-day. A Sicilian girl who had two sweethearts jilted one and came to America recently and married the other, Michael Brindisi. The second suitor followed. He traced the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ferdinko, from Brooklyn to West Virginia. Brundisi found the girl in her new home and shot her, inflicting a mortal gunshot wound. The woman then shot him with her husband's pistol just as her husband entered the door. The latter snatched the revolver from his wife's hand and killed Brundisi. The woman may recover.

80 IN PERIL IN FLOODED TUNNEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—Eighty men had a narrow escape from death today when a blast broke a water main and the Sixth avenue extension of the Meadow Hudson tunnel was flooded above Twenty-third street. The blast hurled a rock against the pipe, smashing a hole in the iron. The tube filled with water as the workmen fled. All are believed to have escaped.

WOMAN KIDNAPPER OF WHITLA APPEALS

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—Helen Boyle, one of the kidnappers of Willie Whitla, son of the Sharon lawyer, now serving a sentence of twenty-five years in the Western Penitentiary, to-day filed with the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania an appeal, in which she charges that her conviction by the Mercer County tribunal is illegal and should not be allowed to stand. The paper does not mention "Dinnie" Boyle, Helen's husband, who was given a life sentence.

STEAMSHIP MANAGER HELD AS A REBATER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Adrian Gipps, general manager of the Holland-American Steamship Company, was arraigned in the United States District Court here today charged in two indictments of thirty counts with accepting rebates from various railroads. The total fine he could receive under the law is $250,000. He pleaded not guilty and was released on $10,000 bail.

HARVARD LOSES LOWELL WORK IN ASTRONOMY

Dr. Percival Lowell, director of the Lowell astronomical observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., has decided to ignore Harvard observatory in the announcement of his future discoveries, and has arranged to cooperate with the observatory at Kiel, Germany, in making announcements. His course is said to be due to friction with Professor Pickering, the astronomical expert at Harvard.

Dr. Lowell for a long time was dependent upon Harvard for recognition of his work as an astronomer, but since the world of science has accepted his proof of the existence of oxygen in the atmosphere of Mars and his theory of the composition of Saturn's rings, he is independent, and purposes to act so.

To intimates, it is said, Dr. Lowell has complained that his reports of discoveries have been minimized or "buried" at Harvard. He is a brother of Harvard University's new president.

SUFFRAGETTE WHO THREW ACID HELD

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Alice Chapin, the militant suffragette leader, who was arrested October 28 for smashing a bottle of corrosive acid over a ballot box in the Bermondsey by-election, was arraigned today on that charge and the additional accusation of having injured a police clerk, whose eye was burned by the acid. She was held for trial.

'WHITE WINGS' 'AD' PUZZLES CITY FATHERS

BROCKTON, Nov. 4.—Can the city legally allow a "white winger," employed by a department store and bearing on his back the words, "Try Sound-Sox for bargains," to assist in cleaning the city streets when the department store is willing to pay his wages at so cost to the city?

This is the question that Mayor Kent, City Solicitor William G. Howe and Superintendent of Streets W. H. Thorne are struggling to answer.

The manager of the department store insists that the city may legally do so and scorns the suggestion that the city might do so anyway, because since the introduction of the "white wings" advertising scheme the streets where the walking advertisement works are cleaner than ever before.

The city officials are confronted by the problem of a result due to the introduction of a private sweeper clad in the usual "white wings" and with the regular paraphernalia of a street sweeper. He happens to be Frederick T. Mowry, who for ten years was the most expert crossing sweeper in the employ of the street department.

Superintendent Thorne met Mowry at his job and, after exchanging a few words, said, "What are you doing?"

"Working eight hours and earning a salary that would make a bank clerk," responded Mowry.

"Well, you can call it a day. You're done, finished. Beat it," said Thorne.

"Not on my boss," said Mowry. "I ain't working for you any more." And he kept right on sweeping.

Thorne saw the department store man for satisfaction. What he got was a pronounce opinion of the way in which the streets should be cleaned and a promise that if he interfered with the private sweeper he would have a legal case on his hands that would be fought to a finish.

"The crossing sweeper with a sign on his shoulders or on his cart is in direct violation of the city ordinance," he declared Mayor Kendall. The following section 22 is support of this position: "No person shall have or carry in any public street, any banner or pinecard, and there display the same without the permission of the Mayor and the City Marshal."

ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN OR GAS ON STOMACH

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A disordered stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good rest, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach troubles—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like a new man when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels sour, gases, eructates, or is upset, or if you can get relief in five minutes.

Advice About the Hair.

Doctor Lassar, the famous German professor, says the first step toward stopping the falling of hair, itching scalp and dandruff is to keep the scalp clean by washing. This should be done daily in the beginning, and as the scalp assumes a more healthy condition, the head can be washed less frequently. In any event, the head and hair should be cleansed at least twice a week with a reliable wash. The old idea that a shampoo once a month or two was sufficient is positively wrong. There is no remedy for the hair of any special value unless it cleanses and restores the scalp to a healthy, soft, smooth, natural condition. Birt's Head Wash, the new scientific preparation, is the only thing of the kind that you can use and KNOW what you are using. It is not an ordinary shampoo, and it is not sold as a shampoo. It is a wash for the head and hair, made as good as such a thing can be made—and made so good that the formula is printed on the package as follows: Refined Soap —Used, of course, for its general cleansing properties. Glycerine—Used for its softening, soothing, emollient virtues. Glycerine is one of the most valuable applications in skin troubles. Salicylic Acid—An antiseptic which prevents the development of bacteria, putrefaction and disagreeable odors. White of Eggs—Taken from fresh eggs. It is used to assist in forming an emulsion during the process of lathering to remove the scaly matter from the scalp. Cocoanut Oil—Used because it is so readily absorbed by the skin. There is just enough to prevent the scalp from becoming too dry and to give hair a delicate, natural lustre. This new remedy is well worth trying by everybody who has hair or scalp troubles of any kind. Ask your doctor about it. Price 50c a jar.

HAMMOND IN FIGHT TO BEAT OUT GARDNER?

John Hays Hammond is to oppose Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, son-in-law of Senator Lodge, for re-election next year, according to a message flashed by the Republican wireless through Essex county today. Essex county has expected something of the sort for many months. The "scare up" came to-day in an announcement that Mr. Hammond is to address the Gloucester Board of Trade tonight.

To persons who know the A. B. C's of Essex county politics, the announcement means one thing—that Congressman Gus Gardner and Senator Lodge have lost their grip on Gloucester and that John Hays Hammond has captured it.

Folks who profess to know a little more than A. B. C's say that it means further that John Hays Hammond has formally begun his campaign against Gardner for Congress next year. It was known many months ago that Hammond had purchased a string of Essex County newspapers. The Gardner forces heard of it and purchased or "bossed" whatever papers were left. The papers left were few in number, so a batch of mushroom newspapers were started in the county.

The mushroom newspapers have been a drain on the purses which financed them. That may or may not have been the reason, says Essex County, why Congressman Gardner attacked Hammond for employing newspapers" at a rally in Gloucester a few nights ago. But Gloucester is scratching its head, and wondering.

More AMERICANS are read in the homes in Boston than any other paper.

BOSTON 1915 SHOW DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

The 1915 exposition in the old Art Museum is a growing daily more popular. Quite a feature to interest settlement workers and philanthropists is the reproduction of a North End tenement of three rooms showing the inevitable "dark room," insanitary conditions and general inconvenience.

Directly opposite is a model of practically the same three rooms, clean, light, sanitary and properly, although no more expensively, furnished. This exhibit is typical of the entire display. Diagrams and vague plans are not found in any of the demonstrations. Conditions and their remedies are brought home to the observer by forceful illustrations which can be easily understood and appreciated.

The Women's Municipal League has a particularly instructive exhibit, showing a dirty, unkempt market, and another showing a market as it ought to be. The equal suffragists are represented with a yellow-decked booth and many tracts and much literature.

The models of Boston of the present and of long ago, in addition, attract unusual attention, as does also the large revolving wheel showing what Boston will be expected to do by combining all the best interests of the city as represented by the spokes, a chief one being the Cattle Show. The growth is strikingly emphasized by a spiral exhibit of the progress of Boston from its cattle show to its present size.

TAFT DEFENDS 'POSSUM FROM BASE ATTACKS

MACON, Ga., Nov. 4.—The great commonwealth of Georgia welcomed President Taft to-day. The presidential train arrived here shortly after midnight, but it was not until 8 o'clock that the party left the train and went to the Lanier House. Taft at the station and extended the State's greeting to him. The Governor, accompanied by his staff, escorted President Taft to the home of Congressman Charles L. Bartlett on College street, where breakfast was served. The streets through which the party passed were filled with a gaily dressed, decorated, and throngs cheered the President.

After breakfast the President was taken for a ride about the city. At 10:30 he delivered an address at the Fair ground. His train left here for Savannah at 11:45.

President Taft delivered delivered at Columbus, Ga., last night the administration's defense of the pension. During a eat-end address, some one in the crowd asked the President: "How about possum?" The President replied:

"In some way or other the impression has gone abroad that I have a particular love for that particular dish. Well, my Atlanta they gave me a dish of 'possum that was very well cooked and that I enjoyed very much. I am bound to say that I could not distinguish it from the best of young pig, but I have had to encounter. In insisting that I did like it, a certain sort of prejudice that is said to exist against that animal in the tastes of some people. Now, I don't entertain that sort of prejudice."

WOMAN IS BANKRUPT.

TAUNTON, Nov. 4—Clara B. Bassett, who conducted a foaming and express business, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today with the clerk of the United States District Court in Boston. She owes $19,100, and has assets of $265.

ASTOR FLEEING FROM PUBLIC

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 4.—Colonel Jacob Astor, whose wife is suing him for separation in New York, arrived here today in his private yacht Nourmahal on his first stage of a long voyage that is to take him into the Orinoco country on a hunting trip.

He seemed very much worried when pressed for information concerning the suit and said: "I don't know why I should be given all this public trouble over my private affairs. My lawyer in New York is the man with whom to discuss my business affairs, and I will not say a word by his instructions."

FARMERS HEAR BRYCE SPEECH

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 4—With four Governors, many government officials, college presidents and the British Ambassador, Mr. Bryce, the humanist, on the forty-ninth session of the National Farmers' Congress opened here to-day. Mr. Bryce was the principal speaker of the day and delegates from thirty States were present. The Congress will last till November 9.

President Benehan Cameron of Raleigh opened to-day's session and addresses were made by Dr. B. H. Hill, president of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College; Joshua Strange of Indiana, vice president of the Congress; Governor W. W. Kitchin, and Dr. Paul Barringer, president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

HUGE ADRIATIC STUCK IN MUD

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—While feeling her way up the lower bay early to-day the big ocean liner Adriatic went aground. For more than one and a half hours she stuck fast, till tide rising tide enabled her to get clear with the aid of a fleet of tugs.

Aboard the liner were Orville Wright, his sister Katherine and Mary Garden. The accident occurred while the passengers were asleep. Many were awakened, but Captain Smith assured them that there was no danger.

The steamship was to have docked at 8 o'clock. The Adriatic sailed from Southampton one week ago yesterday. She is one largest steamship on the White Star Line.

10 CARDINALS TO BE NAMED

ROME, Nov. 4.—It is learned that at the consistory to be held late in December or early in January ten Cardinals will be created to fill vacancies in the College of Cardinals. No American prelates will be raised to the dignity of a prince of the Church. The ten to be named are three Italians, the Nuncio at Vienna being the one known to be sure of appointment; three Frenchmen, of whom the Archbishop of Paris is one; one Austrian, one Spaniard, the Archbishop of Westminster, and the Patriarch of Lisbon.

The Healing Power of Pine.

If you have ever taken a walk through a forest of pine trees you will remember how, almost unconsciously, the head was thrown back and lungs expanded as you inhaled with long, deep breaths the glorious pine-laden air. How invigorating it was—how healing.

The medicinal virtues of pine have been recognized in medical practice for many years. For coughs and colds the mixture of two ounces of Glycerine with a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky is highly recommended. It is claimed that a teaspoonful of this mixture, four times a day, will break a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients are not expensive and can be bought in any good drug store, the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure being put up for dispensing only by the Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.

REGAL FUNERAL FOR PRINCE ITO

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—Prince Ito, Japan's foremost statesman, who was assassinated at Harbin by Inchan Angan, a fanatical Korean, was buried to-day with honors such as have never before been shown, save for those of royal blood. Throughout the island empire work was at a standstill as a mark of respect to the foremost of the elder statesmen. The Mikado himself directed the high honors paid to Prince Ito. The ceremonies were impressive. Thousands upon thousands of citizens lined the streets. The ceremonies were conducted in Hibiya Park. Prince Ito was buried on a hill overlooking Tokio Bay near the elaborated temple of Shogami. Later the body will be taken to Shoin Park, where a magnificent tomb will be erected amid the mausoleum of other famous Japanese.

APPROVE GRADE WORK.

The Railroad Commissioners to-day granted the petition of the Boston & Maine for approval of plans for the abolition of the grade crossing at Avon place, Arlington.

SAVE THIS RECIPE FOR COLDS

The expert doctors report from the hospital camps in the pine woods of Maine that pine contains the most active agent known to science for the rapid cure of coughs and colds and that the following formula will frequently cure the severest cold in a day's time:

"Mix half pint of good whiskey with two ounces of glycerine and add one-half ounce Concentrated pine compound. The bottle is to be well shaken each time and used in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours."

Concentrated pine is from the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co. of Chicago, but it, as well as the other ingredients, can be obtained from any good druggist and easily mixed.

JOHNSON'S MANAGER TO MATCH UP KETCHEL AGAINST LANGFORD

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—George Little, manager for Jack Johnson, is doing everything in his power to get Stanley Ketchel to join his camp. Little said last night that he had a fair chance of getting the Assassin to come in under his management, and in case "Steve" does decide to trust his future to Johnson's man, the latter will immediately challenge Langford in Ketchel's behalf. Little is anxious to eliminate Langford and would rather have Ketchel accomplish the task than his own charge.

Little said: "I hope Ketchel will decide to join me. I will back him for $10,000 to beat Langford, for I am fairly convinced that he can do it. There is no use of Johnson fighting Langford. He whipped him easily before and it would be waste of time to have to go through the whole proceedings again. At that Langford is a dangerous man, but no more so than Ketchel as far as Johnson is concerned. I think Ketchel the greatest little fighter in the world for his inches. Johnson is the only man who tops him as a boxer. If Ketchel thinks well of the offer he can come a-running.

"He can have the $10,000 backing any time he cares to hop into the ring with Langford. And about Jack O'Brien, to see that he wants to fight Johnson for the title. Now, what rubbish. He can't whip Johnson and he knows it. Anyone who saw him try it in Philadelphia realizes that. This for Jack O'Brien. Johnson will go over to Philadelphia or any place else and agree to knock O'Brien out, and to make a spectacular job will name the round in which he will drop O'Brien for the count. If he elects to do it in the first round, then out he will go in the first. No matter what round, we will put up that purse. Johnson can't lose when we please. So much for his challenge to Johnson."

Little, by the way, has in his possession the last telegram sent by Willus Britt in the interests of his chum and champion "Steve." It reads:

"Remember, in signing articles don't fix yourself up not to fight anybody in the meantime, as I hold your signature to fight Ketchel before you fight Jeffries or anybody else.

Lou Housmann and Jimmy Callahan of Chicago are in town prepared to offer Jeffries a handsome figure to appear in the Windy City in an athletic show for one night. Jeff has practically decided to tour for a few weeks with an athletic aggregation, which will include the world's champion wrestler, Frank Gotch, Dr. Roller and others. It is Jeff's idea to have Gotch as a training mate, and besides giving an exhibition wrestling bout with Gotch, he will take on all comers in bouts with the gloves. Rather than remain about town idle until the bids are all in, Jeff chooses this method of getting on edge. Jeff and his troupe of stranglers will appear at Town Halls along the route.

JOHN L. MAY BE THE SELECTION FOR REFEREE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Who will the referee be is the question causing agitation the more it comes up with the time approaching when the man is to named.

While the club which secures the bout by making the most satisfactory bid in the minds of the two fighters will have something to say regarding who shall be the third man in the ring, there are so few properly equipped to handle such an important battle as the heavyweight championship that they could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The only individual to come out flat footed and say he would be glad to accept the position if it was tendered him is John L. Sullivan, the former heavyweight champion, who states that he is ready to officiate and declares he will treat each man with perfect fairness.

Even Johnson, knowing Sullivan's statements made in the past against colored fighters, has announced that he is in favor of the veteran of the ring, while Jeffries has always considered the Boston strong boy his greatest admirer.

There is no doubting John L.'s honesty and with his presence in the ring the public would have more confidence in the battle.

ANOTHER $75,000 OFFER IS MADE FOR BIG BOUT

SPOKANE, Nov. 4.—This section of the country is determined to land the Jeffries-Johnson fight if it is possible by making a substantial bid. The latest offer is made by the Hillyard (Washington) Athletic Association, whose president has wired Sam Berger, manager of Jeffries, who is now in New York, that the club is ready to post any sine forfeit to bind itself in handling the big match, besides making a bid of $75,000.

LOS ANGELES GETS IN LINE FOR FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—James W. Coffroth of San Francisco is to have the most bitter opposition in his attempt to secure the Johnson-Jeffries championship battle. Tom McCarey of this city stated to-day that he is prepared to post a forfeit in support of a bid of $75,000 for the fight.

COACH GLASE HAS EXETER IN SHAPE

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 4. Despite the mud Exeter football team reported for practice to-day and were run through some lively paces by Coach Glaze, who is determined to win the Andover game this year if such a thing is possible.

The news that Oscar Pearson would be unable to play on account of a fractured shoulder lowered the hopes of the team somewhat, but the smitten body has entire confidence in the team as it is and will support it to the limit.

A mass meeting has been held in the chapel to which about 350 fellows turned out, and one has been called for to-night and Friday evening.

"The Marching Song," the music of which was written by W. Cortelyou, '11, son of Hon. G. B. Cortelyou, will be tried for the first time at the Andover game.

The betting seems to stand at even money, although very little has been displayed so far by the backers of either team.

Pearson's place at left guard will probably be filled by Alexander, until recently the substitute quarterback. Upham, who played fullback earlier in the season and halfback later on, has been ruled out by the faculty because of low marks in one study. The team will suffer from the loss of this man because of his extraordinary kicking ability.

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 4.—An enormous sale of seats is reported to-day for the Andover and Exeter game on Saturday and it is thought that the seating capacity will be to small to accommodate the large crowd that is expected. A great many old Exeter graduates and the alumni will turn out in full force this year, for they see an Exeter victory.

A special train, to accommodate the people from Boston, will leave the North Station at 12.10 Saturday and will stop at Malden 12.19, South Lawrence 12.30, Haverhill 1.12, arriving at Exeter at 1.36. This train will return immediately after the game and will stop at Malden, Melrose, Wakefield, Reading, North Andover, Haverhill, Lawrence, Andover and Boston.

JOHNSON DENIES LANGFORD BOUT

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 4.—For several hours to-day Jack Johnson, champion pugilist of the world, visited friends in Detroit. He told his friends here that there was not a chance of his meeting Langford or any other boxers before the Jeffries match. All talk of any such encounters he brandes as falsehoods.

CAMPBELL TO COACH HARVARD

Harvard's football prospects look safer. Dave Campbell, the old Crimson warrior, who has no fear of the Ells, has joined the coaching squad and there is confidence all round with such an aggressive expert here for the campaign, the chums of which comes November 20, when the Yale Bulldog is let loose in the Stadium.

Campbell knows the joys of walloping the Ells as his team won 22 to 0 in 1901, and he was first aid to Coach Haughton last year when the Yale team was defeated in its own camp.

He is to Harvard what Hinkey is to Yale and both veterans will endeavor to turn out the most skilful end men that were ever seen on a college gridiron and the result of their efforts will be seen when the teams line up.

Coach Campbell puts in an appearance just at the right time when the Harvard team has reached the most important period of its gridiron season and his presence every day on the field will give the team more stimulus.

Harvard is making careful preparations for the Cornell game, despite the ease and confident air with which the Ithacans are regarded in Cambridge quarters. The work of the Crimson ends in the practices lately has showed a tendency to be frigid, and the Harvard coaches are keeping a close watch on this. So far the Ithacan boys have an aggregation of ends who are speedy and versatile.

It is possible that the Crimson will go into the game next Saturday without the services of McKay or Fish. Fish is now well known as the keystone of the Harvard line, and if he is absent it is feared that this will give the New York boys a slight advantage in the tackle positions. Hooper and Lothrop Withington, who may play in McKay and Fish's places, are good, but neither of them is on a par with the Crimson first string men.

If the Cornell gridiron fighters prove no harder for the Crimson than they are expected to by some, the Harvard coaches will relieve O'Flaherty at quarterback and put in Wigglesworth, who is sorely in need of the training of a big game.

STAR BILLIARD PLAYERS IN BIG TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Following is a list of the entries received for the world's championship tournament at 18.2 balkline billiards, to be held under the auspices of the Roomkeepers' Association of New York, at Madison Square Garden Concert Hall, commencing November 22, 1909: Frank Cassignol, Paris; George F. Sisson, New York; George Sutton, Chicago; A. G. Cutler, Boston; Calvin Demarest, Chicago; H. P. Cline, Philadelphia.

Prize money to the amount of $5,000, together with entrance fees and net gate receipts, is to be divided among the players as follows: To the winner of the greatest number of games, forty per cent.; to the one finishing second, thirty per cent.; to the one finishing third, twenty per cent.; to the one finishing fourth, ten per cent.

Each game will be 500 points up, subject to the playing rules at present governing this style of game.

Firmin Cassignol, at present the leading player of France, is on the way to New York aboard the Majestic, which is due to arrive next Wednesday. He will immediately begin practicing at one of the leading rooms. Calvin Demarest has already arrived and is practicing at Maurice Daly's. Sutton is expected to arrive a week or two ahead of the tournament and will also practice at one of the principal rooms.

VANDERBILT CUP AND CAR TO COME HERE

By J. C KERRIGON.

The Vanderbilt cup and the Alco car with which Harry Grant won the struggle on the Long Island Parkway last Saturday are due to arrive in this city early next week. New York desired both the trophy and the car for a few days. Then Boston gets her chance to inspect the victorious car and the trophy which has caused so much interest the world over. C. F. Whitney of the Park Square Automobile Co. has made the necessary arrangements and the famous pair should arrive here not later than Saturday next.

This was the second Vanderbilt that has been won by an American made car, and the first time a six-cylinder has appeared to such strong advantage. An effort will be made to get the cup to Boston by Saturday next so that it may grace the banquet table at the Bay State Automobile Association on Saturday evening when it is proposed to tender a complimentary banquet to Harry Grant and his mechanic, Frank Lee. The latter proved a powerful aid to Grant in his race, and to him should go no small amount of the credit due for the winning of the event.

After the winning car had crossed the line, and was accredited victor Lee turned to Grant and said, "Cripp we really won." Grant answered "yes" Lee said "Sure. It feels good to be a winner, eh! I don't see any difference."

Announcement has been made that The Biddeskarr E-M-F Company will establish a 1,000,000 automobile plant at Walkerville Canada, within the next few weeks. The company will supply the trade of Canada and other British colonies and will be known as the "E-M-F Company of Canada."

The concern will be merely a subsidiary company of the well-known Detroit firm. Foremost among the investments of Frederick H. and J. Herrington Walker of the Hiram Walker & Sons Co., distillers. Walter E. Flanders will act as president and general manager of the new concern, and Robert M. Bronnson has been selected as secretary and treasurer.

Reports from Detroit indicate that plans are being made for the establishment of a big specially constructed automobile racing track near the Michigan metropolis. It is said that the promoters have secured options on two sides on Jefferson avenue near the Grosse Pointe trotting track, which is now used as a racing course for the Chalmers-Detroit cars. E. A. Moross, who acted as manager for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, has resigned his connection with that track, and is said to be interested in the projected tracks at both Detroit and Cleveland.

NAVY MAY PLAY PENN BIG GAME

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—The playing of the army game having become improbable, the midshipmen are taking much interest in the preparation for Washington and Jefferson next saturday and Western Reserve a week after. There is also some talk of having a big game to close the season, and suggestion was that the University of Pennsylvania might be induced to prolong its season a few days and play the Naval Academy either on Franklin Field or at Annapolis.

WOULDN'T SWAP REULBACH FOR GIANT TEAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—"I wouldn't trade Johnny Kling to Brush for George Wilson and the Polo Grounds. I wouldn't trade Reulbach for the whole Giant club, with this year's gate receipts thrown in to boot. I'm not building up a team for John Medicus and New York. I'm in business in Chicago, and while I have anything to say about it, Kling and Reulbach will play with the Cubs, or not at all."

So spoke Charles Welsh Murphy, president of the Cubs. He was a bit winded when he made the declaration, for it was one of the first occasions of his busy young career that the boss of the two-time world's champions was trying to sidestep publicity.

Though Mr. Murphy declared he had arrived in town only late yesterday afternoon, he was here in short of time to hold a conference at the Knickerbocker, shortly after luncheon, with John T. Brush, president of the Giants. To this meeting he retained Charles Ebbets, the Brooklyn owner.

Mr. Murphy, when finally discovered, was as reluctant to tell as usual, though his frantic haste to mail several letters he had in hand and a few grips for the jump back to Chicago.

"Nothing doing in the trade line," he argued. "I came here on a purely business matter."

B. A. A. HOLDS TRIAL BOUTS

Six bouts in the B. A. A. amateur boxing tournament were decided in the trials last night. In four of the bouts an extra round was called by the referee, as the judges disagreed as to who was entitled to the award.

The semi-finals and finals in the 105, 115, 125 and 135-pound classes will be decided saturday night and there will be some lively mixing. The summary:

105-POUND CLASS (TRIALS).

First bout—Michael Rosen, Malden, 105, beat Peter Maggio, Boston, 106, in four rounds.

Second bout—Joseph Rosenthal, Boston, 107, beat Tim Nelson, Boston, 105, in four rounds.

Third bout—Arthur Healy, Boston, 107, beat Harry Post, 107, in four rounds.

Fourth bout—Max Kramer, Revere, 106, beat Eby Peterson, Roxbury, 107, in four rounds.

H. B. Pritchard, Forest Hills, 105, drew a bye.

115-POUND CLASS (TRIALS).

First bout—Al. John Alston, Boston, 117, beat Patrick Francis Scannell, 127, in four rounds.

WILLOUGHBY AGAIN TRIMS YOUNG SANDOW

Walter Willoughby of Cleveland, the crackerjack middle-weight wrestler, walked away with his catch-as-catch-can match with Young Sandow in straight falls at the Columbia last night, although the Chicago boy forced him to extend himself to win. This was the third meeting between these men, Sandow having won a fall-a-piece in the last and Willoughby winning handily on a return match. Last night he repeated the dose and proved conclusively that he is Sandow's master.

The match was replete with exciting moments, and kept the crowd keyed up to the highest pitch throughout. Willoughby won the first fall in seventeen minutes with a head spin out of a full nelson, after forcing his opponent under with an arm and body hold, and repeated the second fall in twenty-eight minutes with body hold and armlock.

Next week Sandow will be a return match between Willoughby and Carl Anderson, winner take all.

A Man Comes in Here
With an air of confidence that he is going to get just exactly WHAT HE KNOWS HE IS PAYING FOR. He asks few questions. Usually a friend's Newman-made suit or overcoat did the real advertising. He comes here for the COLLAR THAT HUGS THE NECK, for THE COAT FRONT THAT DOES NOT CURL NOR BREAK and still STAYS FLEXIBLE, for those HAND WORKED LAPELS that LAY PERFECTLY, and in fact wherever hand work should go—he knows he will get it! IT'S EASY BECAUSE IT'S HONEST. To attempt to satisfy him for less than $20 would be a mistake—some good point would have to be neglected! AND THAT WON'T DO WITH US NOR HIM! We do make Suits and Overcoats at $20 that others find difficult to duplicate at $30.

STRAIGHT DOPE
FOR SPORT FANS

JACK JOHNSON SAYS SAM LANGford is not in earnest about wanting to fight him, and that the Boston brunette is looking for some cheap advertising. The break might do for a lot of people but it will be hard to make the general sporting public see anything but a joke in it. It pays Johnson and not him a big sum out of the match before the National Sporting club of London, and it has been Johnson who has declined the issue ever since. Sam is one of the most modest fighters in the ring in regard to his chance with another fighter, but he firmly believes he can take Johnson's measure, and his greatest ambition is to get into the ring with him. I don't know whether Sam can trim him or not, but I do know that he would give the champion a merry game. A whole lot of men who know more about fighting than I do will bet their money on Langford if the two black scrappers ever mix, which is many miles from being a certainty.

J. R. A., MANCHESTER—I REGRET that I cannot print your letter, but let me assure you it gave me pleasure to read it. I am not troubled a great deal with readers, but if I should print all the boosts I get for this column it would be necessary for me to have at least a column more space. By the same token if I printed all the knocks I get, I would have to have a whole page. So there.

Straight Dope, Boston American.
Being a Sunday afternoon baseball fan I take the liberty of asking you to settle a bet, on which I have made a wager. The game is baseball between Jack Johnson and Jack Johnson in three innings. Who is playing in center field? I am betting that Jack Johnson was never knocked out. Answer quick, for I am broke. To publish the result of the bout and oblige, I'll send a ticket to the game and have you send a double coon dope in the box as soon as you get the result. Thanking you in advance, this compliment is not returned.
IKE COHEN.

Bay street, Boston, Mass.

There are a lot of near-sports in the game, Ike, who know a whole lot of things because they were told so by a lot of others just as wise. I said in this column the other day that Chayski did not knock Johnson out. I still stand on that and here's the dope: The fight took place in Galveston February 25, 1901, and is the first recorded fight of the big negro who is champion. I did not see the fight and I never talked with anyone who did. The Police Gazette sporting annual shows that the bout was a draw in three rounds. Andrew's sporting guide has it that Chayski won in three rounds—not by a knockout. These are the recognized dope books in this country and while one of them may be wrong, both are not. Chayski did not knock Johnson out, and no one else has done so up to date. Now listen to them yap again.

JOE WOODMAN REMARKED TO-DAY that he would give anything if Jeffries will climb through the ropes to fight Langford.

"What's the good of throwing your money away," said a bystander, "Johnson wouldn't take the money."

"Yes, he would and I'll tell you why. After signing up with Jeffries the other day he went into a place and bought about eight quarts of wine after which he said to the proprietor, 'This is the last rent I will ever spend in this place.' 'What's the trouble,' said the owner. "'time of your bartenders shortchanged you a nickle,' replied the champion.

"'Well, if that's all, I will make it good right now,' and over the bar rounded out the change. Johnson took the pennies without hesitation, which goes to show that he would take any fighter."

"It seems to me in that case," remarked the bystander, 'you are robbing yourself of $999.95."

Straight Dope, BOSTON AMERICAN.
Sir—I desire to congratulate you on your answer to "Fred, a Reader." It certainly don't know my War from my Hoss to enable them to get a fighting chance. I may be wrong, but I think that Tommy Burns, Philly Jack and Sandow can easily beat Willard some fine day, and Walker Smith is better to the fellow about town than a straight flush beats ace up. On the level, some people are so enough a pistol hole with both eyes at once. I'm a plain guy and back from Memphis, but that don't keep me from getting credit where it is due. Have always been on the job at 33 Trumbull street.
BOB WILLIAMS.
Worcester, Mass.

It is necessary to rap these pin-headed almost sports once in a while, although ordinarily I pay no attention to them. If it had not been for devoting more space to him than he was worth I'd have told him that some of the best sports I have ever known come from the south. I'm not from Georgia or Mississippi either. Kentucky is good enough for me.

Straight Dope, BOSTON AMERICAN.
As a constant reader of your column for the past year, I ask a favor from you. Aimee Douglas is willing to meet with any welter weight struggler. He is a good strong welter weight and can box. Will you kindly give lightweight Gus Lesnevich a match? He is willing to meet Aimee Douglas three times before a club, under 110 pounds, twice in 30 minutes and would like to have a chance to box. There are excellent boys being training together and we in the state, and any time for a match. Thanking you in advance, I remain,
Address CLEO BRAULT,

If you will apply to Manager Farren of the Columbia Theatre, you will likely get a chance to box. Gus is a clever and good boy, if you are as good as you say you are.

Will you please publish the batting record of Al. Manager of the St. Francis A. A. 2nd team. I am not acquainted with the batting season of 1909 and 1910. I would like to have the batting average of some of the better teams in the State, giving a reasonable guarantee. Would like to have the batting record of Jack Dempsey, Middletown, Conn., and others 115 pounds. Also the batting record of Jimmy Dunn, 125 lb. boxer in the State.
FRANK WARDEN, Mgr.
50 Congress st., Boston, Mass.

Straight Dope, BOSTON AMERICAN.
Will you kindly read the challenge I have flurry our fighting messenger Pat Kelly in yesterday's Straight Dope and kindly handle that for me? Kelly is willing to meet Jack Murray from Providence, so would like to meet him anywhere. I'm the champion of Providence, Murray would also like to get a crack at Harry Sing, the colored 115-pound champion. Matty and his younger brother Charlie have had a lot to say about Murray but both are afraid to meet him. Murray is willing to fight the Kelly boys one at a time or both of them for gate receipts, then they won't have to bet each other. Thanking you in advance, I remain very truly yours,
JOSEPH RIELLY, Mgr.
Mercy Alice, Joseph, but you're the peevish thing. You should be careful that Matty and Charlie don't catch up with you and mistake you for Young Murray.

Straight Dope, BOSTON AMERICAN.
Will you please publish the following? Your Straight Dope is the only one to learn who is champion of the world. Johnson or Jeffries? Yours very truly,
Newport, R. I. PAUL LO ZITO.
You shouldn't tell that way. Somebody might believe you meant it. Johnson is the champion and from where I sit looks like he has a pretty tight title on the title. I'd like to see Jeff champ again, but even if he should win back the title, I'm afraid he wouldn't be able to champ long.

Straight Dope, BOSTON AMERICAN.
Dear Sir—Can you tell me if Bud Fisher ever came as far North as this town.
Also I am interested to learne there is anyone here that gets as much for a picture as Bud.
Can say that there are many here that appreciate your clever column. Yours truly,
Concord, N. H. W. COPPON.
Bud never gets so far north as from the white lights to Concord, so your "Little Jeff" is safe, Bud. Even at that I don't believe you could recognize him by his resemblance to Mutt's old side kick.

WITH JACQUES OUT CRIMSON MAY LOSE

That injury to Herbert Jacques, the Crimson's crack miler, will prove a serious detriment to Harvard track athletics this year, and may mean the loss of the Inter-collegiate track championship, is the opinion of the Harvard track coaches. Surgeons have tied together the cords of Jacques' big toe which were cut but it is expected that this will prove a fatal handicap to Harvard in staying so long in the Inter-collegiates last Spring and think that if Jacques can acquire the ability to use his head better next Spring he may be able to come up to nearly his old style during his injury.

Meanwhile the Harvard track coaches have another Jacques in the making in H. F. Lawless, who as the sole offering of Brown & Nichols won the mile in the Interscholastic meet last Spring. Lawless is the exact replica of Jacques in track form. He has the long stride and characteristic of the Crimson's chief star. He seems to have a little better judgment than Jacques in gauging his distance and speed and the coaches look for him to prove in time the equal of the Brookline boy.

EMPIRE CITY MEET OFF

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The Empire City meeting was officially declared off to-day by Manager Matt Winn. No reasons were given for the action. Aqueduct may continue to race out the remaining dates up to November 15.

UHLAN WILL BE TRAINED FOR RECORD

Uhlan, 2:02½, the trotting champion gelding that Charles Sanders of Salem sold a few weeks ago for $35,000 to C. K. G. Billings, will be given the opportunity next season of getting the world's record in the open, now held by Lou Dillon at 2:01.

The gelding will be wintered at Glenville in the Billings stable, just outside of the famous Cleveland track that "vanished from the map" last year.

He will be jogged regularly all Winter and Spring, and, if advisable, may be taken South for a time in advance his preparation. Uhlan will then be shipped to the North Randall track for matinee races of the Cleveland Driving Club, in which he is expected to meet the trotting mare Hamburg Belle, 2:01¾, his famous rival of this year.

"Doc" Tanner Mr. Billings' trainer, who has charge of the gelding, and Mr. Billings, himself, have confidence that Uhlan will surely drop the trotting record without the aid of a windshield to even two minutes.

Tanner worked Uhlan a mile before retiring him to Winter quarters in 2:03¾, the first quarter in 32 seconds only, the last three-quarters being in 1:30½. He pronounces him a wonder and says Trainer Bob Procter is high compliment concerning the ability with which he handled the gelding in bringing him down to 2:02¼ with so little evidence of what he had done being apparent, and no bad habits or tricks of any kind.

The Mother-in-Law's Rights in the Home

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

A QUESTION has been propounded to the Editor of the Magazine Page which he has requested me to answer.

The question or series of questions pertain to the old, old subject which has troubled the mind of man since the beginning of creation, with the exception of Adam and Eve.

1. Has a mother-in-law any rights that a son-in-law, in honor, should respect?

2. If a mother-in-law and son-in-law have had a bitter quarrel over domestic affairs, has the son-in-law a moral right to command his wife to cease all social or loving intercourse with her mother?

3. If the wife decides, through a mistaken sense of duty to her husband, to forever remain on terms of sundered companionship with her mother is she departing herself in a proper or filial manner toward her mother?

4. If the wife has a brother who becomes a victim of her husband under the state of affairs above mentioned, is that son showing a proper love or protecting spirit toward his mother, who is old and alone?

These questions are entirely too abstract to permit of a definite answer. It all depends on the nature of the quarrel or misunderstanding.

If the mother has been interfering with the domestic affairs of the household, and offering unsolicited opinions; if she has been officiously instructive in matters which pertained solely to the husband and wife, and which they could settle between themselves; if she has been pouring kerosene upon flames, instead of oil on troubled waters, then, indeed, the husband is right in suggesting that his wife choose between a home with him or with her mother.

An Inciter of Trouble

A mother-in-law has been known to incite her daughter to jealousy of a most faithful and kind husband. If he remained in the office a half hour later than usual, if she chanced to walk a block on the street with an acquaintance of the opposite sex, the mother insinuated infidelity and neglect, until the comfort of the household was destroyed by her presence.

When the daughter, who proved to be a woman of common sense, and as just as genuine, informed her mother that she would support her away from her own home, but not in it, the mother lifted her voice in a loud wail of being "forsaken" by her own offspring, and the majority of the public sympathized with her.

Yet the daughter was right. So is the husband right who takes a similar stand when he finds that harmony and peace and love exist in his house when his mother or his wife's mother is out of it, and that these elements of happiness are driven from the windows in affright when she enters at the door.

When a woman marries a man, when a man marries a woman, their personal, financial, domestic and sentimental affairs should be decided between them without intervention of a third party until they ask assistance.

A Mother-in-Law's Place

Many a mother fails to realize that it is her place to stand second in authority, as an adviser to a son or daughter, after either has taken the marriage vow.

If the daughter has selected a husband who has ideas, habits or customs of which the mother does not approve, it is her place to keep silent, since the daughter has made her choice, and not undertake the work of reconstructing their lives according to her ideals.

A word of loving counsel or admonition is a very well, but a continual interference and espionage is quite another thing.

A mother who is cold and alcoholic is not necessarily lovable or in the right. A son or a daughter should look after the physical well-being of such a mother and should be respected in speech and deportment toward her, but to coddle with all her whims and to adopt all her prejudices and to submit to her as a goddess is morally wrong.

Sometimes life is to be the wrong. Sometimes a man marries a woman who is so narrow and so selfish and jealous that she begrudges the husband's mother her son's affection.

Sometimes a loved and cherished daughter marries a man so selfish, so tyrannical that he wants to utterly obliterate childhood and girlhood from her memory and leave only himself the tyrant for her wife to think about.

But I must confess that I have seen but one such wife or husband where I have seen ten selfish and disagreeable mothers-in-law.

Love, and Campbell's Soup. Both are better than the money.

No matter what you pay for soup

You'll get none better than Campbell's.

No stronger richer stock is made than we get from the whole quarters of fresh prime beef and mutton that we use. No better poultry is raised than the plump dainty chickens we use for our Chicken Soup. And it has plenty of the tender juicy chicken-meat in it. No finer fresher vegetables can be obtained than we get right out of the famous New Jersey market-gardens all around our plant. And the day they are picked we make them into

Campbell's Soups

Even if you have the finest markets right at hand; and grow the vegetables in your own garden, you can not produce such soups for anywhere near the price.

We authorize the grocer to give your money back if you are not entirely satisfied.

Why won't you try Campbell's Soups today?

"The Accident of Birth" By Nell Brinkley

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

The two start on the journey accoutred in the same way, but their ways change, and one becomes the Princess, while the other becomes the Servant.

"WE all come the same. That's strange and marvelous! When one thinks that the little king-baby first cries out at the world and blinks his eyes upon it in just exactly the same outfit of skin and toes and eyes that the sheep-herd's baby in the hut below the hill comes in!"

To save their lives the splendid, rich folks can't fix it so their Baby will come looking the part, in a garb "suitable to uphold his station and dignity."

And the sheep-herd's little kid for once in his simple life is as gorgeous as any king's heir.

Plump the two of them down on a cushion where they may curl and uncurl their hands at one another and stare in one another's round unshadowed eyes, with their little heads rolling on their tiny cherub shoulders, and you can't pick the royalty.

Only, sometimes, yes it is so, sometimes the king-baby is the ugliest one!

They all come alike. The princess and the wash lady, the scholar and the moon-calf, the highwayman and the saint, the priest and the trotter on the Great White Way; once they were just pink mites, just like every other pink mites, with not a sign or a mark to foreshadow what like they will die.

Here's the two to-day. And there's the two a quarter century later.

Here's one, pink and smooth and tiny and wise, with no hair and crumpling pink toes; with searching fingers and a mouth that's ready and happy to accept anything from a football taken whole to the bee that crawls, scolding, up the pane.

And here's the other—just like that, too! Anything from a shoe to a caterpillar, and its toes are pink, too, and they crumple. Just the same!

Both rich and both poor, and both wiser than they'll ever be again, and both so cuddly and lovable.

And then here they are both again. One snuggles deep in satin and broidered and scented cushions, with every little thing gay and beautiful and gilded around her. Plenty to eat and a lot ever, fur and silk and gems making their separate and gracious sounds as she mopes. The fire leaps in the grate behind bronze bars and lights up the glasses and cups on the dark, carved table that waits at her feet.

And a pink be-mutton-chopped gentleman waits always to save her honorable feet. Warmth and light and beauty and color and plenty. One of the pink mites will die in this!

Then the other. Just a wash-Lady, hard-armed, tired-eyed, still pretty, with her generous hair pasted back to be best out of the way, squatted on a stool for a breathing spell, her water-wrinkled hands clutched between her gaunt knees, the wind outside and patches and pinching within. Unpaid bills, poor eatings, grey light, starved heart and eyes and tired back. One of the pink mites will die in this!

It is strange. If you look very well and hard you'll think you could see it, a mark, sign, to tell that life never would mean the same to them—but you can't.

Two pink mites. Coming the same and going so different.

THROUGH THE WALL

CHAPTER XII.—(Continued.)

By Special Order.

"HIM! I'll tell him, Waitt here," said with exact courtesy the old servant left Alice standing in the blue tiled hallway, near a long, dimly paned window. A moment later she reappeared with mollified countenance.

"M. Paul says will you please take a seat in here." She opened the study door and pointed to one of the big red leather chairs. "He'll be down in a moment."

Left alone, Alice glanced in surprise about this strange room. She saw a photograph of Cassne and his master on the wall, and went nearer to look at it. Then she noticed the collection of pipes there, and was just bending over it when Cosnel entered, wearing it loosely cut house garment of blue velour with dark green braid around the jacket and down the legs of the trousers. He looked pale, almost haggard, but his face lighted in welcome as he came forward.

"Glad to see you," he said.

She had not heard his step and turned with a start of surprise.

"I—I beg your pardon," she murmured in embarrassment.

"Are you interested in my plaster casts?" he asked pleasantly.

"Greece!" he reflected. "That isn't a French name!"

"No, my family lived in Belgium, but I have only a cousin left; he is a wood carver in Brussels. He has been very kind to me, and would pay my board with the Benedictus, but I don't want to be a burden. So I work at the church."

"I see," he said, approvingly.

Alice looked closer. "Oh, but I have," she insisted.

"You mean in a museum?"

"No, no, in life; I am positive I have."

M. Paul feigned with incressing interest. "You have seen a hand with a little finger as long as this one?"

"Yes, it's as long as the third finger and square at the end; I've often noticed it."

"Then you have seen something very uncommon, mademoiselle, something I have never seen. That is the most remarkable hand in my collection; it is the hand of a man who lived nearly 2200 years ago; he was one of the greatest criminals the world has ever known."

"Really?" cried Alice, her eyes wide with sudden fright. "I—I must have been mistaken."

But now the detective's curiosity was aroused.

"Would you mind telling me the name of the person, of course it's a man, who has this hand?"

"Yes, I would Alice, "it's a man, but I should not like to give his name after what you've told me."

"He is a good man?"

"Yes, yes."

"A kind man?"

"Yes."

"A man that you like?"

"Why—er—why, yes, I like him," she replied, but the detective noted a strange, uneasy look in her eyes. And immediately he changed the subject.

"Would you have a cup of tea with me, won't you? I've asked Melanie to bring it in. Then we can talk comfortably. By the way, you haven't told me your name?"

"My name is Alice Groener," she answered simply.

"Groener," he reflected. "That isn't a French name!"

A Remarkable Hand.

"I was looking at this hand," replied the girl. "I have seen one like it."

Coquenil shook his head good naturedly. "That is very improbable."

Alice looked closer. "Oh, but I have," she insisted.

"But you know who was murdered?" Alice shook her head blankly. "How could it?" her cue has told me."

She Knew the Dead Man.

"It was a man named Martinez."

She started at the word. "What! The billiard player?" she cried.

He nodded. "Did you know him?"

"Oh, yes, very well.

Now it was Coquenil's turn to feel surprised for he had asked the question almost aimlessly.

"You knew Martinez very well?" he repeated, scarcely believing his ears.

"I told you so, Mr. Coquenil," she explained, "at the cafe where we went evenings."

"Those are the—"

"Why, Papa Benneton would take me or my cousin, Gustave, of M. Kittredge."

"Then M. Kittredge knew Martinez?"

"Of course, he used to go sometimes to see him play billiards." She said all this quite simply.

"And Kittredge and Martinez good friends?"

"Yes."

"Never had any quarrel?"

"Why—no—no," she replied in some confusion.

"I don't want to distress you, mademoiselle," said Coquenil gravely, "but aren't you keeping something back?"

"No, no," she insisted, "I just thought of a little thing that made me unhappy, but it has nothing to do with this case. You believe me, don't you?"

"Of course I believe you, he smiled. "Now I'm going to give you some of this tea; I'm afraid it's getting cold."

The Best Cough Syrup Is Easily Made at Home

You can make a full pint of cough syrup in five minutes by this recipe—enough to last a family a long time—at a cost of only 54 cents. It is not only cheaper, but better, than the cough medicines you buy. Its taste is pleasant and children like it. It stops obstinate coughs in a hurry, and is splendid for other throat troubles.

Granulated Sugar Syrup 12½ oz.
Pinex ..... 2½ oz.

Put 2½ oz. of Pinex in a pint bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup made as follows: Take a pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of hot water and stir for 2 minutes. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This recipe will not work with any of the weaker pine preparations. Use the real Pinex itself, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. All druggists have it, or can get it easily on request.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

A Fat Woman Carries Her Own Heat

In cold weather fat people are the most comfortable. The fat lays around the body just like so much quilting material and cold can not penetrate this mass of fatty flesh. While this fat is keeping you warm, your poor heart is pumping away and your lungs, liver and stomach are surrounded by a mass of waste tissue that keeps these organs from doing their full duty. That is why more fat people drop dead than thin ones and not condened with fat. If you would try Marmola Tablets after each meal you could eat anything you like and these little fat consumers would stop your system from producing fat and they would turn your food into the best and the richest blood, bone and tissue. It is all a question of digestion. Every drug store in the land carries them. They have a greater sale than all the so-called reducing-oil today. Don't drug yourself, but try a case of these tablets and see the fat leave you at the rate of from 32 to 15 ounces a day and your health and appetite improving. Marmola Tablets are made in accordance with the formula of a large one of Detroit physicians by The Marmola Company, Dept. 130, Detroit, Mich., and they will send them to you in a plain package by mail.

The Make-Up of a Fighter

By HANK

THE Fighter's not a man who pounds another in the ring;
He's not a man who thinks that having muscles everything;
He's not a man who always claims he knows what he's about—
The Fighter is a man who's down, but never says "I'm out."

The Fighter's not a man who bars a smaller fellow's way;
He's not a man who goes about a-bragging every day;
He's not a man who tries his friends and enemies to rout—
The Fighter is the man who's down, but never says "I'm out."

Advice and Cheer for the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WANTS GOLDIE'S ADDRESS.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Would you kindly give me the address of "Goldie," the young girl who wants to make friends? I would like to have her join or come to our Girls' Friendly Society meetings. The organization is connected with the Warren Avenue Baptist Church, but one does not have to be a Baptist to join the society. Every one is welcome. We have girls from all churches in our society. We have very pleasant times and are all the time getting up entertainments. We had a Hallowe'en party and are arranging for a drill and a fair. I will explain more about the society and our good times to Goldie if you will send me her address.

We would be pleased to welcome other lonesome young girls who desire to make friends in the city.

MISS MAY ROBERTSON.

Dorchester.

I DO not know "Goldie's" address, but perhaps she will answer this. I'm sure girls' societies like the one you belong to be just what strange girls in the city need.

NOT IF HE IS WORTHY.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Will you kindly favor me with your most valuable advice in regard to the following question. Your answer will be cordially very much appreciated, not only by the writer, but by several of her friends. The question is this: Is it any way out of the way for an American girl to associate with parties of different nationalities, supposing the nationality in question to be an Italian?

Would be very much pleased to have the answer placed in your paper at your earliest convenience. I watch the paper every night and read all about your advice to the lovelorn, and would like to see the above answer appear in that column if possible some evening this week. Yours respectfully,

M. F.

I F the man is respectable and industrious, and she loves him, I do not see that the difference in nationalities should make any difference in their happiness.

WRITE HER MOTHER.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

While away this Summer I met a young lady with whom I fell in love. She is pretty and very attractive. We have been corresponding ever since I got home, until she went to some up the State, and I have not heard from her since, and think her mother is keeping her from writing. I have written her twice and have not received a reply. Now will you kindly give me your advice, if it would be proper to write her mother? I am quite sure she loves me and that she would write if possible.

HEARTBROKEN.

SHE may be ill or something else may be preventing her from writing. Write and tell her somewhat how much interested you are in her daughter and ask her permission to write, and also for her daughter to answer.

GIRL CAN EXPLAIN.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young man twenty years old, and have been going with a very good young lady nine years younger than myself for the past two months and we have always been very happy when together. I had a warm feeling for her and love her, and I think it made mine with me. We generally conduct our conversation one night and I found out she broke it but I think it was going to run away with another girl, which I will say is true, as we had a little quarrel. Now her folks won't allow her to go with me, I am a respectable young man and have a good home and come from a good family. I would like to have your advice on this, as I do not want to give her up or meet her on the sly. I can't forget her.

HEARTBROKEN.

I THINK the girl can straighten matters out if she wishes. She can explain the while thing to her parents and then they will understand. If you are steady and industrious, and the girl really cares for you, I am sure that everything will come out all right.

NOT ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Please advise me regarding the proper form of etiquette in the following. A lady of my acquaintance was married recently and I have received from her, after the wedding, announcement and "at home" cards. Must I call on her, or will just an announcement and congratulation be sufficient?

MISS W. G.

IT is not necessary to call, but it would be proper for you to do so. A congratulation would also be friendly; though if you call, there will be no necessity of sending a card.

Victor Herbert works and plays for the Edison Phonograph

Victor Herbert has written some of the most popular music produced by an American composer. The Edison Phonograph makes the best of it available for you.

Victor Herbert has trained one of the best orchestras in the country. Its music is reproduced upon Edison Records.

Victor Herbert is musical adviser to the National Phonograph Company. No other sound reproducing machine has the advice of so distinguished a musician as Mr. Herbert.

This is just one of the many things which Mr. Edison is doing to make the Phonograph a perfect music reproducing machine in the world. You can enjoy it at an expense so small that you cannot afford long to hesitate. Hear the Edison Phonograph today. Hear it play Amberol Records; hear it play Victor Herbert's music, and then you will know why Mr. Edison said "I want to see an Edison Phonograph in every home."

YOUR THANKSGIVING DINNER

The Boston American Offers $25 in Prizes for the Best Bills of Fare.

The Thanksgiving dinner bills of fare have begun to pour into the office of the BOSTON AMERICAN.

The AMERICAN, you know, is offering $25 in cash prizes for the best New England Thanksgiving turkey dinner bills of fare. And New England's clever cooks are beginning to respond.

If you want to prepare the very best Thanksgiving dinner possible within these columns each day, and you'll be sure to find many excellent suggestions.

Also, New England housewife, why not surprise your household by handing one of those prizes. The first prize is $10, the second $5, and then there are ten prizes of $1 each.

Perhaps your bill of fare will win you your Thanksgiving dinner.

The rules and regulations of this contest are few. Here they are:

The bill of fare must be arranged on a scale suitable for a family of six persons, and the total cost of all ingredients must not exceed $3.50.

Of course, the dinner must include turkey.

Send in your menus to the Thanksgiving Editor, Boston American, Boston. Write as clearly as possible on one side of paper only.

And here are the first replies. Read them over. There seem to be some excellent suggestions in them.

Plum Pudding Barred?

Thanksgiving Editor:

Here is my menu for Thanksgiving. This is just what we had at home last year, and we found it ample and most delicious:

OYSTER COCKTAIL.

Half pint oysters, 12 cents; condiments, 3 cents; total, 15 cents.

ROAST TURKEY.

(Seven pounds, $2.10; dressing, 5 cents.)

Mashed sweet potatoes ..... 4 cents
Scalloped onions ..... 5 cents
Rice steamed ..... 5 cents
Celery (home market) ..... 8 cents
Bread with cheese salad ..... 6 cents
Lettuce ..... 6 cents
Small pound cheese ..... 8 cents
Bulk stuffed olives ..... 10 cents
Plum pie ..... 12 cents
Pumpkin pie ..... 12 cents
Small coffee ..... 10 cents
Raisins ..... 20 cents

Total $3.27

Perhaps many of your contributors to this contest will include plum pudding in their bills of fare, but I contend that that is strictly an English dish and has no place on a Thanksgiving table. It is more of a Christmas dish, don't you think?

MRS. CHARLES J. ROGERS.

Rockland.

A Snap in Turkeys.

Thanksgiving Editor:

The following dinner is easily prepared, much of the material requiring no preparation. I have the advantage of the Boston housewives in that I am now to secure native turkey at a moderate rate:

Two quarts oysters in shell to broil ..... $ .20
Vegetable soup ..... .05
Native turkey, seven pounds, at 20 cents 1.40
Dressing for same ..... .05
Turkey sauce made from giblets ..... .05
Squash ..... .05
Cranberry jelly ..... .12
Sweet potatoes, creole ..... .10
Boston market celery ..... .18
Bottle stuffed olives ..... .10
Salad, including:
One head lettuce ..... .08
One can sweet peppers ..... .12
Mayonnaise dressing ..... .18
Cream cheese ..... .05
Mince pie ..... .12
Sweet cider ..... .15
Salted peanuts ..... .10
Coffee ..... .05
Crackers ..... .05

Total $3.27

MRS. E. M. BLAKE.

Burlington, Vt.

For Vegetarians.

Thanksgiving Editor:

Here's a Thanksgiving bill of fare which may not win the prize because of the nutmeg many hold for vegetarian diet. This is strictly a vegetarian dinner.

Cream of Rice with Almond Soup.
Broomal Crackers.

Nut Loaf ..... Cranberry Jelly.
Caramelized Sweet Potatoes.
Lima Beans in Ramekins. Onion Souffle.
Grapefruit with Celery and Nuts.
Raisin and Pumpkin Pie. Orange Ice
Small Cakes.

Many of your vegetarian subscribers may find ideas in the foregoing for their holiday meal. The cost of the various dishes I have not enumerated, but they would be well within the prescribed $3.50 limit. MRS. LORETTA MARKHAM.

Brookline.

Grandmother's Way.

Thanksgiving Editor:

Here is a menu for an old fashioned New England Thanksgiving dinner:

Turkey, 8 pounds $2.00
Stuffing for same ..... .05
Parsnips ..... .08
Squash ..... .05
Onions ..... .05
White Potatoes ..... .05
Cranberry jelly ..... .08
Plum pudding ..... .30
Mince pie and nuts ..... .25
Mince pie ..... .12

Total $3.22

I didn't explain the cooking of this dinner, as it is plain to every housekeeper. This is the kind of dinner that my grandmother used to have. We didn't have any celery or other fancy dishes that they have now. POLLY HERSEY.

Hingham.

Very Geographic.

Thanksgiving Editor:

Here is a bill of fare for Thanksgiving day which is certainly unique, and I think perhaps you may find room for it in your columns.

This menu is not original with me, as it was published in Good Housekeeping. However, if that bars me from chances of winning one of the prizes I shall not feel disappointed if you just send it in for cause I think it so good.

This is called a geographical dinner, each item on the bill of fare being disguised as follows:

Neighbor Johnson's Cows. Meadows.
Michigan. California.
Vermont. Grandmother's Orchard.
Jessica's Farm. Jane's Kitchen Garden.
Chesapeake Bay.
Spice Islands. New Jersey. Louisiana. California.
Indiana's Fields. Cape Cod.
Carolinas. Spain.
Domestic. France.
South America.

Here is the key to the puzzle:

Chicken Gumbo. Crackers. Celery.
Curtis Critics. Olives.
Turkey. Apple Sauce.
Turnips. String Beans.
Oyster Pie.
Sweet Potatoes.
Kumquats, Cherries and Romaine Salad.
Thanksgiving pudding.
Pumpkin Pie. Cranberry Pie.
Nuts. Raisins.
Crackers. Cornet. Coffee.

MRS. ANNIE MORRISON.

THANKSGIVING DINNER CONTEST

The BOSTON AMERICAN will award $25 in prizes of $10, $5 and ten $1 for the best typical New England Thanksgiving turkey dinner bills of fare.

The bills of fare must be arranged on a scale for a family of six, and must not exceed $3.50 as a total cost.

Turkey must, of course, be included.

Send in your letters giving the best bills of fare you can prepare for the price. Write only on one side of paper and as clear as possible.

Send your letters to Thanksgiving Editor, Boston American, Boston.

The awards will be made about Thanksgiving time, so you may use the money for your holiday celebration if you wish.

Read the Rules and Send in Your Suggestions, New England Housewives.

Don't you think this is an interesting mode? I'm sure the little folks of the household would find lots of merriment in trying to solve the riddles as the dinner progressed.

I have carefully figured it out, and I find that this dinner could be prepared for six people for $3.50, limiting the turkey to six pounds.

MISS MARY A. JOHNSON

Pine Hill avenue, Dorchester.

Offers Recipes, Too.

Thanksgiving Editor:

In answer to your appeal for Thanksgiving menus I submit the following:

MRS. ANNIE MORRISON,
286 Dorchester street, South Boston.

SMALL THINGS IN SERVING.

BREAD and butter plates are now used almost exclusively. For a luncheon a neat piece of butter ball is placed on them beforehand.

Cheese is passed on a separate plate, not placed upon the pie plate by the hostess.

Cheese sticks are served with salad, and sometimes with after-dinner coffee.

Coffee may be served either from the kitchen or from an urn placed on the table in front of the hostess.

Whipped cream is put on hot chocolate before it is brought in, unless the chocolate itself is served from the table.

MILLIONAIRES' HOMES THAT NEVER HAD A HOSTESS—Wonderful palaces of disappointment will be fascinatingly described in the Sunday American.

THREE OF TO-DAY'S BOSTON SOCIETY GIRLS AS BRIDES

MISS CORINNE EDDISON. MISS SARAH ADAMS. MILDRED COWAN.

Fatal Modesty of Clyde Fitch

A MID the medley of criticism and appreciation, reflecting numerous points of view into which the dramatic career of Clyde Fitch has precipitated all students of the drama, as a writer of plays, the essential fact emerges that his unaffected modesty has failed to keep Clyde Fitch like himself more seriously, is a national misfortune.

In Europe, where these things are so much better understood than they are over here, we see Maeterlinck in a frame of perpetual seriousness on the subject of his own work, while sudermann never wearies of the fruition he has enjoyed from the predecessors he has set to figure among those from Goethe to Bernard Shaw strikes the prophet attitude.

Clyde Fitch, notwithstanding, and none of his friends differ, although his fame has international and a goodly run of his which had failed here made a hit in London. His crude Americanos, therefore, trained to the less fastidious native genius among the world's great playwrights is unthinkable here, invariably from Clyde Fitch in his own valuation and insisted him in making our dramatic literature less commonplace.

The lesson of his career, consequently, is that, grateful as it may be to any of our playwrights to attempt it, they must subordinate their modesty to their patriotism, or rather to the existence of their themes. That is what more did and all Norway gained prestige from his success.

That is what these plays, with such results as we see. Clyde Fitch, unfortunately, closed in the light of American artistic self-consciousness by this failure of his to flower the greatness of his own work. The fatal modesty of Clyde Fitch is, indeed, easy among the striking contemporaries, but unfortunately his ability is rarer still.—Current Literature.

Molly Adams, Golf Champion, and Elsie Hall Among Half-Dozen Brides To-day

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Talk about the gay whirl of society! It actually makes one dizzy to contemplate the rapid-fire succession of events to-day. Weddings hold first place in interest always, and there are no less than a round half-dozen of those happy affairs to-day.

The two church ceremonies will be those of Miss Elsie Hall, who weds Arthur Stanwood Pier in Trinity Church at 3:30, and the pretty little golf champion, Molly Adams, whose marriage to Edward C. Wheeler takes place at Arlington Street Church at 4 o'clock.

Both girls are of the New Riding and Vincent Club sets and it was the cause of much lamenting among their many friends —who, of course, are for the most part mutual—that the weddings should come so close together.

But each girl had set the date before the other knew and when they discovered the mistake it was too late to fix it, for there is still enough superstition in the makeup of the average dream girl to make her still wish to cling to some of the old beliefs, and from time immemorial it's been counted the greatest risk of future happiness to change the wedding date.

Miss Hall, who is a decidedly interesting and accomplished girl, is the daughter of Mrs. Richard J. Hall of Beacon street. She is one of the most philanthropic members of the younger set, being perhaps the most active in the noble cause of charity than has any other girl in Boston. Miss Hall's parents have both lost their hearts to their daughter at their château in Paris, where she has passed most delightful years of music.

Mr. Pier is a Harvard, '05, man, and well known among the younger club men of both Boston and Newport.

Bishop Lawrence performs the ceremony and Eben Howes is the best man. The ushers are:

Mrs. Benjamine Loring Young, Jr., (Mary Hall) of Weston, is her sister's matron of honor. The girls, who wear a handsome gown of white satin and old family lace, is given an entertainment by Thomas Hall.

She has selected for her bridesmaids her intimate girl friends: Elizabeth Hardigton of Beacon street, Hope Gray of Beacon street and Boston, Helen Pierce of Brattle street, Cambridge; Ellen Dolton of Beacon street, Barbara Channing of Winchester, and Martha Wiesbesworth of Milton.

Among the ushers are Hollis Ahnott, Clayton Johns, I. M. Gainewell, Edward R. Warren, Benjamine Loring, Jr., Willard Thorp Ames, of Boston and New York, Chester H. Thomas of St. Paul, W. Kirkpatrick Brice and Dr. Eugene H. Pool of New York, all classmates of Mr. Pier, at Harvard, '05.

A reception at the home of the Halls on Bay State road follows the ceremony. Upon their return from the honeymoon the young couple will make their home in Weston.

The wedding of Miss Adams will be a large and brilliant affair and, of course, all the sport lovers of the summer set, many of whom have been her competitors on the golf links, will be present. Miss Adams has traveled with her often competing in the championship golf matches in which she has been in form.

Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham performs the ceremony. Miss Marjorie Adams of Brookline will be maid of honor. Miss Willard Wheeler of Brookline and Miss Dorothy Phelps of Boston and Miss Grace Semple of St. Louis are bridesmaids.

Dove Whitney Adams, Jr., brother of the bride, will act as best man. The ushers are Mr. Reelie, Edgar Hunt, Nathaniel Ayer and Mr. Hall, brother of the bride, and two of the others.

The reception following the ceremony is held at the Tuileries. After their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will live at No. 35 West Cedar street.

Miss Mary Clement Leavett of No. 18 Huntington avenue is receiving contributions for the Women's Educational and Industrial Institute at Utica, Mississippi, which was recently burned that destroyed $4,000 worth of the school's property.

Guests from all over the United States are in Boston arriving for the celebration of the diamond jubilee of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, which will be the boys of the Harvard chapter present in Philadelphia comedy, "Al Boobs," at Sanders Hall. To-morrow evening the annual banquet will be given at the Copley-Plaza hotel. Frank Gaylord Cook of this city, Harvard, '95, is president of the council, and Orrin P. Gifford of Brookline will be the toastmaster.

Among the speakers will be Governor Hughes of New York, President Eliot of Harvard, Thomas Nelson Page of Washington, and Nehemiah Boynton of Brookline.

The marriage of dainty Mildred Cox and Osborn Howes is a social affair of the year and is witnessed by only the members of the two families and a few of the most intimate friends.

Miss Cox, who was a bud of but a couple of winters ago, is the daughter of Mrs. Willis Cox of Brookline and is prominently identified with the Vincent and New Riding clubs. She will have as her only attendant her chum, Miss Rosalie Channing.

Kenneth Howes, Harvard, '08, is his brother's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Howes will make their future home at Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Howes is the son of the late Osborne Howes, is a member of the Union Exchange and Country Clubs and graduated from Harvard in 1900.

Among those who entertained at tea in the Casino at Hot Springs yesterday during the concert hour was Mrs. James R. Taylor. Among her guests were Miss Katherine Fay, Miss Ethel De Koven, Mrs. Livingston Best and Mrs. Reginald De Koven.

Still another important marriage to-day will be that to New York of Miss Caroline Bendix Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, to Stefe Senator Joseph Kiss of Hartford, Ct. Miss Robinson, who is well known in Boston, is a niece of ex-President Roosevelt, who is hoping to be present. Mr. Roosevelt returned from Europe only last week in order to be on hand for the nuptials.

The wedding will be a small and quiet affair on account of illness in the bride's family. It will take place at the Robinson home in New York.

Among Bostonians to attend is Mrs. Reed Atwell, who is one of the warmest of the family friends. Miss Cornelia Wolcott and Miss Robinson are the best of chums but as Miss Wolcott is just convalescing from an operation for appendicitis she will be unable to attend.

E. H. Warner, A. S. Cobb, Vassar Pierce, Horatio Gilbert and Carleton B. Richmond of this city returned to Boston after attending the wedding in Providence of Miss Edith Waterman and Ralph Sumner Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua B. Richmond of Boston, street and a graduate of Harvard University of the class of 1907. The bride was unattended but wore pink and at the altar by her uncle, Harold P. Waterman.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Walter de la Gurnee, who are the parents of Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike of Boston and New York, have returned from several weeks in Europe. Long Island. They have opened their house on 79th avenue for the Winter.

+ + +

The Boston colony at Hot Springs will welcome Mrs. Winston Churchill to that widest next week as she has decided to spend the latter part of the Autumn in the Southern resort.

+ + +

Mrs. John C. Phillips and her daughter, Miss Martha Phillips, have decided to spend the Winter at their country house on the North Shore and are not to open a house in the Washington or London this year.

Mrs. Phillips will not sail for Europe before the Spring and when she goes over it will be with her daughter for the Summer. John C. Phillips and family have recently returned from a visit to Wenham where they will spend the Winter.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dexter Ellison of Belmont will probably come into town for the Winter. They have recently purchased a house on Newbury street.

Mrs. George W. Thompson of Boston has joined the Lake Auburn colony at Hot Springs, just arriving at the Homestead.

BILLS AT BOSTON THEATRES

Rose Sutro makes coeducational individuality very appealing by the fun she gives in "The Fair Co-Ed," the George Ade comedy at the Colonial.

Victor Herbert's music is one of the many charming features of "The Prince of Algeria" at the Majestic. Ethel Green and Lillian Herlein are two more.

There will be special performances of "Hamlet" at the Castle Square Theatre to-morrow and to-morrow's matinee. "A Parisian Romance" is played at other times this week.

S. H. Dudley's rural song, "Come After Breakfast," is one of the hits in the screaming farce "Hearts of the Blue" at the Grand Opera House.

Christie Mayer, the "soft-point singer," of the Spanish Fair, the dancers, the sketch "Freckles" and the Bergonzi and Lehigh trio are the features of the American Music Hall.

"The Heir of Reckoning" is the current melodrama at the Boston Square. "Heart of a Hero" begins Monday.

"Polly of the Circus" at the Hollis Street Theatre Grace George appears to much advantage as Polly and gives a darling portrait of domestic infelicities.

The comedy oddities and serious politics in "The Candidate from Mississippi," at Dockstader's Park are being appreciated more than ever at this campaign and election period.

"Peter Pan" at the Boston Theatre is one of the best musical comedies of the season, its music, specialties and comedy fun.

The Ladies of Paris and New York at the Gayety is one scene in the famous Moulin Rouge in Paris.

A trip through "Hitchland" is the feature of the show being put on at the Howard Athenaeum by the Sam Rice Stock Company.

New acts at the Hub for the rest of the week include Harry Thornton's pianologue, and Falk and Abel.

Kip Reed, monologist; Madeline Burdette, piano duoist, and Jack Ingalls, comedy juggler are at the Palace.

The Theatre Premier Stock Company will present "Dukes at the Ball" the rest of this week among other new humane scene features.

Bessie Tyson, comedienne and the "Arab Love Song" from "The Boys and Betty" are features of the Theatre Comique bill.

OUTSIDE REAL ESTATE SALES HEAD THE LIST

Quite a few important parcels were reported sold in the realty market to-day, but all the conveyances were for properties outside the city proper limits.

The deal property at Nos. 54-52 Warren avenue, near Front street, Charlestown, assessed on a total valuation of $35,600, has been transferred to J. Frank Wellington, of the Wellington-Wild Coal Company by Hannah F. Chapin as trustee, and Rebecca S. Fitz et al. The Wellington-Wild Coal Company occupies the premises. There is a total of 24,008 square feet of land, divided as follows: 7704 feet of Ruby, 7041 feet of sand and piling, 5622 feet of dock and 3448 feet of land. There is also also a large frame building, including coal sheds and office. The land is taxed for a total of $20,000.

The same deed includes the frame house and 885 square feet of land at No. 2 Sprout street, near Baker Bridge, Charlestown, which was sold by A. Cary to Martin W. E. Hennessy. The estate is taxed for a total of $1,500, $400 being on the land.

The Dearborn, a four-tiers brick apartment hotel, and 2,580 square feet of land at Nos. 253-255 Dudley street, Roxbury, assessed on a total valuation of $30,000, $8,000 being on the land, have been sold by Frank Simkhovitch to Samuel Pevzner, subject to a mortgage of $15,000, on a total valuation of $45,000.

William L. Burnett has sold to Frank Simkhovitch the four brick and one frame house and 12,000 square feet of land on the northerly side of Dudley avenue, corner of No. 10 Bradeen street, Roxbury, assessed for $30,000, $9,500 being on the land, subject to a mortgage of $15,000.

Another Roxbury property sold is that at the corner of Sale street and Dudley avenue, containing 5,287 square feet of land and assessed for $5,500. Hollis A. Sargent has been the purchaser.

Edward Sargent has purchased from Henry N. Richards the dwelling and land at Nos. 1 and 1,712 square feet of land on Walnut avenue, near Windsor street, Roxbury. The property is assessed on a total valuation of $6,200, which $1,500 is on the land.

A new brick dwelling and about 4,000 square feet of land, the latter on Warren street, Roxbury, have been sold by Mary A. Sullivan to Thomas Baldwin. The house, being new, is not yet fully taxed.

In Dorchester two lots of land, containing 7,100 square feet, on the northerly side of Bird street, avenue, extending through to Hobbat street, near Great Northern avenue, have been sold by Mary E. Lynch to the same neighborhood builder. The land is taxed for a total of $1,200, $700 being on the land. Work has been started by the purchaser on building a house for Frederick J. Beckwell.

Louis H. Jones et ux have sold to Charles E. McGeoun the frame house and 2,281 square feet of land at 47 Dutton street, near Bird street, Dorchester, the property being assessed on a total valuation of $3,000, $1,000 being on the land.

Arthur W. Bishop et al have sold to the Jackson Square Realty Company the land and buildings at the corner of West and Milton streets, East Boston, the latter being a three-story brick building 9,750 square feet and taxed for $300, $6,000 being on the land. The land, containing 6,020 square feet, at 10 and West Concord streets, has been sold by Thomas Wall, executor, to Charles E. McGeoun, the former being assessed for $1,000.

Richard L. Chamberlain has sold to Edgar P. Kenyon the two-story brick dwelling and land at 22 Westford street, near Raymond street, Brighton. The property is assessed for $4,000, $1,500 being on the land.

In the same vicinity a frame house and about 4,000 square feet of land on Cambridge street, near Washington street, have been sold by Charles E. Telford to Thomas J. Hinchey. The land is taxed for a total of $3,200, of which $700 is on the land.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

Indications are that the industrials and low priced rails will afford the best opportunities for obtaining profits on the long side during the next few days.

Bull points, like dividend increases and general prosperity, have temporarily lost their efficacy. Altogether, the market is tired.

The Steel trust continues to receive large orders and an estimate of the company's earnings for October was placed yesterday at $14,500,000. Orders booked during the same period amounted to not less than $1,850,000.

Morgan people, far from having renounced interest in the issue, continue to advise its purchase and more or less definitely promise a 5 per cent. dividend in 1910, predicated on what the country is ordering. An expert in steel and iron matters says that the business has actually increased since the organization of the 1906 trust. What it will be in 1910 is mere conjecture.

James J. Hill, furthermore, indorses this view. His assertion of recent business is the opinion that the Great Northern for the present year will not have earned less than $8,000,000 in excess of last year's net. He also states that the crops in the Great Northern and Northern Pacific are increasing heavily, despite the competition of the Canadian Pacific in the Puget Sound. As the Puget Sound also is more than twelve hundred miles from the Northwestern territory is flourishing in a considerable manner.

Burlington's figures and Hill's statement should subdue apprehension among shareholders of the Hill properties. Either in 1907 this railroader's word had suffered to block liquidation from British sources, but the extravagant expectations of what Gould's Western properties for stockholders contrasted with what it really did do to the credit have modified the speculative prestige of the Hill stocks.

For one very important thing the population in the Hill St. Paul domains and in the Northwest in general is increasing at the right sort of population—mostly agricultural.

Hawley, too, figures as a native stockman in the market. He deigned as saying that some time in 1910 Chesapeake & Ohio would have to be bought at 130. Presently by a 5 per cent. dividend will precede this realization.

Perhaps the selling of New York Central and Pennsylvania was not due so much to the low net earnings as to the fact that the railroads have begun advertising an advance of freight rates and that investors realize that this agitation is certain to excite unfriendly legislation. It is quite possible that an uproar may be created equal to that of three years ago. In the last six months the relations between the railroads and the public have been growing very friendly.

Amalgamated Copper has made another upward move that revived interest in the rumored consolidation of producers. There is not nothing tangible in this consolidation yet, but the Colo-Ryan group of operators, still having faith in their properties, seem to bring about some combination. If they fail to find, they may succeed in consolidating in Amalgamated to comfort them in their action. Amalgamated is sold at about fifty points too high, and it has been higher. It is going higher now, regardless of merit.

But with Amalgamated leading the market and Colorado Fuel making a desperate effort to catch the leader, some investors would have had experience with this kind of leadership are beginning to think that the public might be taken out of the market. It is safe to say that the market will not go far under such leadership. Even if Amalgamated is going higher, those in charge of it will very quickly realize that it had better not start on the journey all by itself.

One report in the Street is that North Butte and Butte Coalition will be taken into Amalgamated. This will be in the hope of permitting it to make some copper at profitable figures in competition with its own people, which it has in the future to conquer. It is impossible to get any official information upon this report. Butte Coalition is controlled by the Amalgamated engineers. Investigated North Butte reports are that the stock was selling at $15 a share, and it would not be safe to speculate against the leading interests in Amalgamated took it seriously to mean that the Amalgamated engineers the shock of earning too much money. It is not unusual for $60 a share, and there is no danger of overselling the Amalgamated shareholders with sudden wealth if it is purchased.

Recent market activity in Salt Lake City and Bingo St. the shares of many of the small City properties, such as MacDonald Con., City Mining, Bingham Con. and Apex issues, has given credence to Salt Lake reports that the Guggenheim interests were still adding territory to the Giroux company.

W. B. Blackmar has been appointed general manager of the Raven Company, succeeding John Hopkins, resigned.

It is rumored that recent bids of $60 per share for large blocks of Old Dominion Company have been refused.

It is probable that Virginia Carolina will increase the common dividend next May from 4 to 5 per cent. Present earnings are better than $15 a share.

NEW MASSACRE OF ARMENIANS BY TURKS

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A new massacre on the Turkish peninsula of Anatolia was reported here to-day in dispatches, which say that the first attacks on Armenians in Marzoun to fury by those occurring later. The situation there is critical and it is not known whether any Europeans were near the district in Anatolia.

LIVES 5 DAYS ON LIZARD AND CACTUS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—C. A. Balba, a Los Angeles druggist, has been rescued from death on the Nevada desert, after wandering five days demented, and subsisting on the flesh of snakes and lizards and water obtained from the cactus plant.

N. Y. CENTRAL OFF 2 POINTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Irregularity characterized the early trading in Wall street to-day. The standard railroad shares were heavy under the leadership of New York Central. Shareholders of New York Central were not evidently pleased with the announcement of the new stock issue of nearly $45,000,000. The stock declined nearly 2 points on liberal selling.

Copper stocks continued to show strength with Amalgamated the center of interest. During the first few minutes following the opening Amalgamated declined 3/4 of a point, but then rallied to a figure well above yesterday's closing. When it crossed 89 it made a new high record for this movement.

Buying of Colorado Fuel and Iron that was attributed to the Rockefeller interests caused the price of that stock to rise nearly one point to the new high record for this movement of 49 3/4.

The flood of orders received by railroad equipment companies continued to inspire buying of these shares. American Car and Foundry was the leader and sold at the new high record of 70 1/2, toward Steel it also advanced. Low priced industrial coalers such as the Virginia Carolina and American Cotton Oil were also in demand. On the New York Curb prices were strong. La Rose sold at 5 1/8, while Nevada Consolidated sold at its previous high record. In London American shares were heavy.

The Bank of England did not increase its discount rates.

STRENGTH IN COPPER LIST

STATE STREET, Nov. 4.—Under the leadership of Amalgamated, copper shares were strong this forenoon, although activity was in the Cole-Ryan group of stocks. Amalgamated sold at its highest of the year, namely 89¼. The street is certain that this advance is preliminary to some announcements to be made regarding a combination of Cole-Ryan and Guggenheim interests. The arrival of Daniel Guggenheim from abroad is now awaited.

North Butte was second to Amalgamated and recorded an advance from 60 to 62. Butte Coalition rose to 29¾ and Greene-Cananea touched 12. Both of the stocks were bought by Lawson brokers. Miami touched 31.

Outside of coppers Agricultural Chemical was conspicuous with a 1¾ point advance to 49¾. Steel was in better demand and rose almost a point to 91¾.

On the curb Majestic was the feature, rising to 15-16 on heavy trading. There was some selling of Boston & Ely and putting the proceeds into Majestic. Consolidated sold at 2 5-16, while there was continued selling pressure in La Rose.

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, NOVEMBER 4, 1909.

Sign No Petition Until You Know You Are Right

The American urges its readers to make haste slowly in signing the nomination petition of ANY candidate for Mayor.

It begins to look as though the mayoralty marathon would have a score of entrants.

YOU know that 5,000 genuine names are required on each petition before it becomes valid.

No person may sign MORE THAN ONE petition. If twenty candidates enter the contest the name of nearly every voter would be required to make the twenty petitions valid.

NOT ALL of the candidates entered can get the required 5,000 names. If, for example, YOU SIGN your name to the petition of Jones, and Jones succeeds in obtaining only 1,000 or even 2,000 names, you cannot transfer your name to some other petition. YOU LOSE your signature as a nominator.

That is the great danger of undue haste in signing before you are fully convinced that your name will go on the petition of a man who is qualified to hold the office of Mayor, not on the petition of some man who is merely a political trafficker.

There is no need for haste. Petitions may be filed up to Dec. 17.

Plan Two received the ENDORSEMENT of the voters at the polls. No man knows how it is going to work out. It is entitled to a FAIR CHANCE.

You can help in this particular by REFUSING to sign any petition until you know all the facts about the various petitioners.

Constitutional Question in the Buck Stove Case

The highest court of the District of Columbia has affirmed the jail sentences pronounced last March by a lower court of the District against the three principal officers of the American Federation of Labor.

But the decision comes from a divided court.

The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Shepard raises a constitutional question which we hope the Federation will be able to carry to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The dissenting opinion holds that the injunction originally issued against the Federation officers was void, at least in part, as an invasion of the fundamental right of freedom of speech and of printing.

The point made by the defendants, and apparently sustained by the dissenting justice, is that the remedy against unwarrantable speech and print is to be sought not by injunction but by action for libel.

This doctrine is supported by a line of leading cases in which injunctions against prospective libels have been refused on constitutional grounds. For if it were possible to enjoin a newspaper publisher from making a damaging statement—which might or might not turn out to be libelous—and to put him in jail for disregarding the injunction, it is hard to see how either freedom or responsibility for public print could be maintained.

Incidentally it is to be noted in this case of the Buck Stove Company that the men under sentence did not really disregard the injunction and that their offense is technical.

The dissenting opinion of Justice Shepard recites that the Buck Stove Company was not, as a matter of fact, mentioned in the "unfair" list of the Federationist after the completion of the injunction.

It was included merely in a copy of the magazine printed before the injunction order was made and mailed before the injunction had been validated by the filing of the necessary bond.

The Federation officers have not been contumacious or disrespectful of the law.

And the questions at issue should be settled WITHOUT APPEALS TO PASSION.

In Congenial Surroundings

That the true measure of a man cannot be taken for historical purposes until a generation after his death is a sentiment that has found many adherents. Some time ago when the question of statues to the living came up, the idea was combated as dangerous, in view of what the honored one might subsequently develop.

And it was charged at that time that in the full flush and excitement of the taking off of a notable character tributes might be paid that later might be considered unwise and untruthful.

But with all this accumulation of argument and sound advice there is small likelihood that the erection of a marble statue to Senator Quay in the rotunda of the Pennsylvania State House will now excite adverse comment, when the circumstances of the building of the State House are specifically recalled.

The cost of the Capitol was run up by stupendous jobbery. The amount of graft that was shared by those concerned in its construction was almost beyond precedent. Millions of dollars were thrown away to appease the voracity of the grafters.

And in the rotunda of this "graft palace" the marble presentment of Senator Quay looks down benignantly as one who feels at home and properly and appropriately honored.

Inspiring idea! Timely and touching tribute!

It is generally conceded that the Boston American has a greater circulation than all the other Boston evening papers combined, and that it is as strong in Boston in the evening field as, for example, a paper of the combined strength of the Evening Journal and Evening World would be in New York city, or the Evening American and Evening News in Chicago.—Advertisers' Magazine.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

WEN Pa calm hoam last nite Ma was ritelng poetry. She had two (2) pages ritten wen Pa looked at it. Wells, well, sed Pa, what is the new dope?

Well, sed Ma, I will tell you. I was looking at a story in the paiper this morning wich had been rote by a lady naimed Miss Smitg & it todld about a society woman wich was a reel poet. Her name is Missus Wagstaff.

You dount say, sed Pa, that is a funny naim for a poet, Wagstaff. Are you sure the naim wasent Wigglepole?

Dount git fresh, sed Ma, I mean what I say. I mean that if a society lady can be a poet, I can be a poet. She rote a poem, sed Ma, wich went like this:

Let the world with it's futile aims pass away;
Let me have peace in a perfeck passhun's sway,
So long as we love, what matters the darkest day?
Let the world, with its futile aims, pass away.

Grand, sed Pa. Grate. I cud rite a better poem with a burnt match, Pa sed, & so you are going to be a society poet, too, sed Pa. I shall watch yure pro-gress with grate interest, Pa sed.

There are sum ladies cumming tonite, Ma sed, to hear Missus Wagstaff reesite her poems. She is going to be my guest to-nite. I hoap you will try to be a gen-telman during the eevning.

Just then Missus Wagstaff came, & the other ladies, & Pa wanted to go into the lbrary, but Ma made him stay in the parlor. Then Missus Wagstaff got up & sed a poem:

What do I love him for? His lus-trous eyes,
Of mirrored sea change, dark as yonder wave;
Or yet the wonder of his spirits rise,
When laughter woos him from reflection grave.

Cheese, sed Pa. I wish I cud reesite you the poem that I reesited at Jimmie Swinnerton's dinner last nite. Did you girls ever hear the poem wich Billy Jerome rote, wich begins

I felt no feeling of disgrace
The day I struck her in the face?

Ma was awful mad at Pa, but not half (½) so mad as Missus Wagstaff. She jest looked at Pa & kep on reesiting:

Or is it in the tender, suppliant way
He has at seeking me at close of day?

Ha Ha, sed Pa, that is a good line. I supposa he wanted to get sum change. That is a husband's privilege, Pa sed, & shall always be a husband's privilege. There is no time of the day so sacred, Pa sed, as the witching hour wen a husband approeches his wife for cerfare. Rings on my fingers & bells on my toes, Pa sed. Oh, you Wagstaff! sed Pa.

Then Missus Wagstaff got mad & went hoam, & now Ma cant git into society. After all the ladies was gone Ma had a long talk to Pa.

Jack—Perhaps you don't like my style of dancing?
Orme (in distress)—Well, there is rather too much sameness about it.
Jack—Er—how may I vary it?
Orme—Suppose you tread on my left foot once in a while.

"Blood Will Tell"

By CHARLES FERGUSON

ALL the old monarchies are built on the proposition that a man's character and fortune are decided by his parents.

If there is anything peculiar about America it lies in the fact that in this country we expect these matters to be settled by the man himself.

And this peculiarity is not a mere detail of our social arrangements. It is the pivot of the revolution—for which all the great wars have been fought and for which all the poems, songs, sermons, charters and constitutions of democracy have been writ ten.

It is by a fine instinct, poetic and philosophical, that Israel Zangwill in his drama "The Melting Pot," makes the issue be tween the Old World and the New turn upon the idea of heredity.

His point is that heredity rules in Europe, but not here.

For heredity is only another name for privilege—since people who believe that birth makes worth cannot help believing that some men ought to have a larger life than others.

Over against the ancient prejudice of herdity, America sets up its heart-thrilling standard of liberty and equal-ity, proclaiming a career for talent—without regard to one's grandfather.

To believe in liberty is to deny that blood will tell. You can't tell whether a man will limp, or run or fly—by studying his faulty tree. America has discovered that there is an incalculable quality in every individual that laughs in the face of fate.

The legal doctrine of liberty is based upon this experience of the unpredictable character of human achievements, and upon the feeling of the Western World that men are not so much creatures as creators, that great men are born not of the flesh, but of the spirit, and that things that can be clearly conceived can perhaps be done—whether the omens are favorable or not.

The sentiment of heredity, with its racial hates, feuds and vendettas, stagnates the spirit of the far Eastern lands; as expect these matters to be settled by the man himself.

The sentiment of heredity, with its racial hates, feuds and vendettas, stagnates the spirit of the far Eastern lands; but the West, with its proclamation of liberty, clears the way for illimitable progress.

Of late years the biologists have helped to establish this Western faith, on scientific ground—by proving that heredity is a falling force and that it plays a diminishing part in the higher ranges of life.

They tell us that "acquired characters" or special aptitudes gained in the lifetime of the individual are not transmitted by heredity. And this accords with the common observation that men and women of the highest talent may have children of the lowest—and vice versa.

Christianity fortifies the political doctrine of liberty.

Indeed, and in spite of the hard things that liberals and radicals have said of the Church, it is a historical question whether the Church has not been in the past, and through the long processes of its institutional development, the very mother of the modern faith in freedom and the grand destroyer of the blood bond.

It was in advance of all States that the Church first established a widespreading public polity on the pronouncement that "there is neither Jew nor Greek, barbarian, Sythian, bond nor free."

The ordinance of clerical celibacy was an institution designed by the politicians of the early Church for the breaking up of hereditary caste; and in a thousand ways the Moatest Church prepared the race for the advent of America.

No, blood will not tell. Blood has "told" in the past, and it has been a bloody tale.

But the future belongs to liberty and fraternity.

Wife—In a battle of tongues a woman can hold her own.
Husband—M'yes, p'raps she can; but she never does.

A Tip to Teachers

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

(A man teacher in a Brooklyn school tried to make girls abolish their rats and transformations. He has stopped trying now.)—News Item.

SHARP spoke the voice of the failure-fated pedagogue,
Patuously rushing in where fathers feared to tread,
"It is told in song and story
That a woman's chiefest glory
Is the Nature-given crown of hair she wears upon her head."

Softly smiled the faces of the sweet girl undergraduates,
Knowing not the pedagogue's malevolent intent,
What care we for calculus
When he talks like that to us?
Our coif-gowns have got him dippy! Isn't he the lovely gent."

Stern spoke the voice of the self-important pedagogue,
Shifting of a sudden to a ringing, stinging tone,
"But the only sort of hair
That a lady ought to wear
Or CAN wear in this, my high school, is her very, very own.

Wild wailed the chorus of the sweet girl undergraduates:
"Let us leave this horrid place, let us get our coats and hats!
For the creature means to say
He expects us to obey
An idiotic edict that we cannot wear our rats."

Pat went the feet of the angry undergraduates,
Shuffling, scuffling frenziedly about the school room door,
And they vanished, rats and all,
Through the tessarated hall,
And till that pedagogue was sacked, they came again no more.

Soft spoke the voice of the sadder, wiser pedagogue
When he got another job, long aeons after that:
"Girls, I find high inspiration
In a lovely transformation!
And for pure, poetic beauty, there is nothing like a rat!"

Sportsman (wishing for fresh fields to conquer)—I should like to try my hand at big game.
Fair Ignoramus—Yes. I suppose you find it very hard to hit those little birds.
